BONI'S WIFE IS DIVORCED, GETS SONS' CUSTODY

Countess of Castellane, Formerly Anna Gould, Wins Sweeping Victory.

COUNT DENIED ALIMONY

Privilege of Keeping Children in France Only Point for Him.

HE CAN SEE THEM OFTEN

Paris Court Brushes Aside Count's Demand for Examining Witnesses.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The Tribinal of First Instance of the Seine, Judge Ditte presiding, at noon today granted a divorce to the Countess de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould of New York, and gave her the custody of her children, who, however, will not be allowed to be taken from France without the consent of their father, Count Boni de Castellane.

The end of the famous case came suddenly. The Court brushed aside the demand of the Count's lawyers for an examination of witnesses, and, as expected, the public prosecutor did not even ask to be heard.

As soon as the court was assembled, Judge Ditte handed down the judgment, which is a sweeping victory for the Countess.

In granting her petition for divorce the Court gave the Countess the custody of her children, the Count being allowed only the usual right to see them and share in the control of their education, which was not contested.

The Count is given the right to see the children at stated periods at the home of their grandmother, and keep them a month annually during the holidays.

The Count's demand for alimony of $50,000 annually was pronounced by the Court to be without foundation in law and was rejected.

One Point in Boni's Favor.

The only point decided in the Count's favor was the imposition of the inhibition on the Countess to take the children out of France without their father's consent. The Court appointed the president of the Chamber of Notaries to liquidate the affairs of the husband and wife.

The judgment was given with costs against the Count. The decree, the reading of which hardly consumed five minutes, was delivered by the Judge in a voice so low as to be practically inaudible to the eager crowd filling the courtroom. Many women climbed the chairs in vain efforts to hear the decision, and when they were aware that a divorce was granted they seemed actually to resent the loss of a public trial, at which people in high society would be compelled to testify.

Stripped of textual verbiage, the formal counts upon which the attorneys of the Countess asked divorce were as follows:

1. Soon after his marriage Count de Castellane began the purchase of furniture at ridiculously exorbitant prices and immediately resold it. When the plaintiff protested the Count abused her in the presence of servants.

2. Upon the slightest pretexts, Count de Castellane created scenes, going to the extent of striking the plaintiff. In the course of one of these scenes at Rochecotte, during the autumn of 1895, the Countess was brutally pinched by her husband, and the next day, while she was still suffering from his violence, she revealed the fact to an American friend, who was a guest at the chateau.

3. During the summer of 1898, and notably during a pleasure trip, which the Count de Castellane took, the Count was intimate with a married woman, "Mme. A."

4. The Count maintained a correspondence with "Mme. A.," fixing the dates for rendezvous, through the intermediary of "Mme. X." and "M. N.," in the Rue de Maubeuge.

Many Meetings With Mme. B.

5. During the summer of 1895 Count de Castellane had intimate relations with "Mme. B." He had many meetings with her, principally at the Pavilion of St. James.

6. During June, 1905, a lady entered the Count de Castellane's automobile, dined with him at Ville D'Avray, and both later went to the Pavilion of St. James, where they spent two hours.

7. During the same year, 1902, Count de Castellane was intimate with a woman who lived in a furnished room house in the Rue Castiglione.

8. In 1905 the Count de Castellane was intimate with "Mme. C.," which involved indiscretions, repeated rendezvous and automobile excursions, objects forgotten in an automobile and found by the domestics making almost public scandals. Count de Castellane went frequently with this woman to an apartment, which he maintained at Neuilly.

9. In June, 1905, at the end of a big reception at the mansion on the Avenue Malakoff, Count de Castellane and "Mme. C." were found an hour afterward alone in the garden, and the Count was compelled to summon aid for the

WARMER AND FAIR THURSDAY

Temperature to Be Above Freezing Wednesday Night.

You can take off those heavy snow shoes you resurrected from the back of the closet Wednesday morning, for you won't have to wear them again for a time. It's going to clear up Wednesday afternoon. Thursday it will be warmer.

The official forecast reads: "Varying Wednesday and fair; Thursday warmer. Variable winds. Minimum temperature Wednesday about 38 degrees."

The storm area that has been over the West has moved eastward and is now over the Mississippi Valley. Snow has been reported from the Northeastern States. In Minnesota it has been sleeting. The rest of the country is reported as fair.

The snowfall early Wednesday morning was the heaviest for this time of the year recorded, with one exception. On Nov. 3 and 4, 1899, snow fell to the depth of four inches. Wednesday's fall averages in St. Louis about 2½ inches. The snow began falling in thin wet flakes about 1 a. m.

The area of the snowfall is extensive, reaching as far south as Georgia and into Northern Missouri. In Boonville, Mo., the snow is 4½ inches deep.

Three-Inch Fall in Alabama.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 14.—Three inches of snow fell in North Alabama last night. Fuel is very scarce here, owing to the car famine and recent strike of machinists on the Southern Railroad, which caused shortage of locomotives. Much suffering is anticipated.

Snowstorm at Paducah.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PADUCAH, Ky., Nov. 14.—This morning the first snow of the season appeared. It started at 1:40 o'clock this morning and at 3 o'clock turned into rain. This was followed by snow again. From appearances the storm will last for hours, and the local weather forecaster thinks it may prove a heavy one.

SNOW CAUSED BIG FLOOD.

Vast Territory Submerged in Washington—One Life Lost.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 14.—Swamped by a succession of warm rains, the snow on the western slope of the Cascade Mountains melted and flowed into the rivers at the base, thereby resulting in what appears to be one of the worst floods this section of the country has experienced for years.

Bridges have been washed away, telegraph and telephone wires are down, the train service of the Northern Pacific is completely disarranged and up to the present time one life lost. The whole country between Auburn and the Cascade Mountains is reported to be flooded. Every river and creek between these points has reached marks as high as known to the memory of men who have lived there for years past.

The full extent of the danger and damage is difficult to ascertain, as all wire communication is interrupted.

25 PRISONERS MUTINY.

Russian Sailors Overpower Guards and Escape.

CRONSTADT, Russia, Nov. 14.—Twenty-five sailors who were sentenced to hard labor in the mines for life after having been convicted of participation in the August mutiny escaped last evening while awaiting deportation.

They were allowed to visit the baths under an escort of 16 soldiers, whom they overpowered, killing one man. The convicts then donned civilian clothes and disappeared.

A strict watch is maintained along both coasts of the Gulf of Finland, but only one of the fugitives has been captured.

DENIES ROBBING BANK.

Stranger Suspected of Walker (Mo.) Burglary Arrested.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEVADA, Mo., Nov. 14.—Deputy Sheriff McKnight arrested J. E. Dickinson at Walker last night on information sworn out by Prosecuting Attorney Moss, charging him with the burglary of the bank at that place yesterday morning. Dickinson says he is innocent and says he knows nothing of the bank robbery.

Dickinson is a painter and had been in Walker for 10 days. He says his home is in Pike County and has letters of recommendation purporting to be from Congressman Champ Clark and Dave Ball.

POSSE HUNTING NEGRO.

Fugitive Killed Officer and Shot Police Captain.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 14.—An armed posse is searching the surrounding country for the negro, said to be Will Harris of Charlotte, who last night shot and killed Policemen Blackstock and Bailey, mortally wounded a negro named Neil and wounded Police Captain Page.

There is talk of a lynching if the fugitive is captured.

To Investigate Trusts.

In charging the Federal grand jury Wednesday, Judge Finkelnburg of the United States District Court instructed the panel to pay especial attention to any violations or the inter-State or anti-trust laws that might be brought before them. It is understood that several such cases will be investigated.

Senator Cullom Recovers.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senator Cullom, who suffered a slight attack of acute indigestion and nausea yesterday, was reported today as having entirely recovered.

COTTLE ALIBI RESTS ON OWN STATEMENTS

Cannot Find One Witness to Transactions He Related as Defense.

LUSTER INQUEST ENDED

Accused Woman and Husband Decline to Testify, She by Advice.

TIME UNACCOUNTED FOR

He Says He Bought Barrels, but Can't Tell Where He Got Them.

Circuit Attorney Sager applied Wednesday for an information charging Mrs. Alice Cottle of 2416 Dickson street with murder in the first degree in causing the death of Albert H. Luster, her aged lover. This action followed a noncommittal verdict by the Coroner's jury at the inquest, which was concluded Wednesday.

The Coroner's jury found that the gunshot wound which was inflicted on Luster at the end of his clandestine woodland meeting with Mrs. Cottle entered at the back, but this was the only doubtful point cleared. Whether his death was murder or an accident, and the identity of the person who fired the shot, were left undecided.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Sommers was present at the inquest. If Prosecuting Attorney Thomas refuses an information, the case will be taken before the grand jury.

The inquest was resumed at 9 a. m. Wednesday, having been continued by Deputy Coroner Lloyd, who said he had an idea he wanted to follow up. He did not make known what this was, but that his investigation was fruitless was shown at the second session of the inquest. In the interim he visited the sequestered tract of land west of Union boulevard and north of the Terminal belt tracks, where Mrs. Cottle met her aged lover last Thursday and where Luster was wounded.

Mrs. Cottle was asked by Dr. Lloyd whether she wished to make a statement, and said that on advice of James M. Rollins, her attorney, she would not do so. Dr. Lloyd asked Cottle to take the stand. He explained that Cottle was not a prisoner, and had no right to refuse to testify unless he felt that the tendency of the inquiry was to implicate him.

"I want you to decide this for yourself," Dr. Lloyd said. "Whatever course you take, it must be your own choice, not the advice of an attorney."

"I believe I prefer not to testify," said Cottle, promptly.

Accused Her While Dying.

No new testimony of importance developed. Thomas J. Luster of 2633 Allen avenue, a nephew of Luster, said that the latter had made a statement to him at the hospital similar to that made to detectives in Mrs. Cottle's presence—that Mrs. Cottle shot him.

"Who could have done it if she didn't?" Luster said his uncle asked John H. Bell, a friend of Luster, gave similar testimony.

The alibi upon which the police "exonerate" Cottle of complicity in Luster's death is shown by investigation of Post-Dispatch reporters to rest solely on Cottle's unsupported word.

From 2:30 p. m. last Thursday until 4 p. m., the latter time a half hour after the shooting of Luster, Cottle says he was on a wagon collecting barrels for his cooperage at 2024 Division street. He is unable to find any witness who saw him during that hour and a half, and although he says he bought barrels at various places, he is unable to find the places or the persons who sold them to him. No one has been found who saw Cottle later than 2:30 o'clock and earlier than 4 that afternoon.

Says He Bought Barrels.

Cottle's alibi, as he set it forth to the detectives and later to a Post-Dispatch reporter, was that he drove north along Twenty-first or Twenty-second street to Salisbury street, and that he bought three barrels during this portion of his trip. It was his custom to stop at grocery stores and houses and ask if empty barrels were for sale, and he says the place where he bought these three was not impressed on his mind strongly. He has been unable to find it.

It was about 3:15 o'clock, Cottle thinks, when he reached Salisbury street. He drove to Twenty-fifth street and followed the Lee avenue tracks to Kossuth avenue, driving on Kossuth west to Grand avenue.

At the southeast corner of Grand and Kossuth avenues Cottle bought some barrels, he says. The store there is owned by J. E. Mueller, who says that when the detectives first visited him in regard to Cottle's alibi he questioned all his employes, but none of them was able to recollect that Cottle or anyone resembling him had been there Thursday. They were positive no barrels had been sold. Mueller has continued the inquiry since then, with the same result.

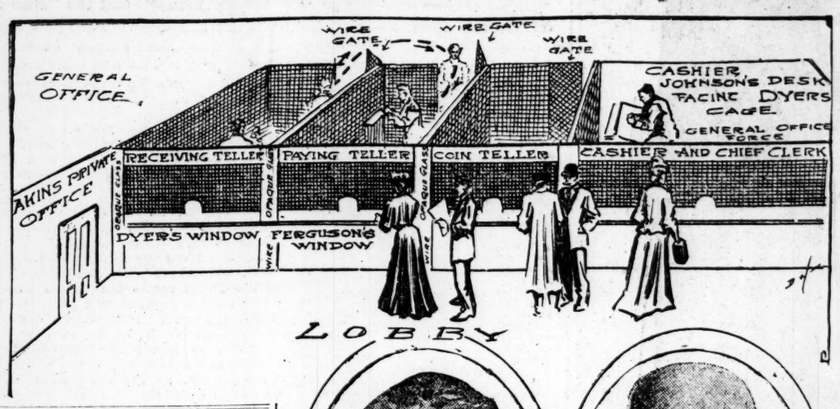

Mrs. Lena Rahning, whose husband conducts a grocery at 4201 Prairie avenue, says she remembers that Cottle came into the store in her husband's absence and bought some barrels. She is positive he was alone.

Son-in-Law With Him.

It was 4 p. m. or later, Mrs. Rahning says, when Cottle approached. He spent at least half an hour, she says, selecting the barrels he wanted, and finally chose about 20. These were loaded on his wagon and he departed.

Luster is supposed to have been shot between 3 and 3:20 p. m. At 4 o'clock Cottle was seen at Prairie and Penrose avenues. One block south of him was the Lee avenue line, by which it is possible to transfer to a Taylor avenue car, then at Pope and Florissant avenues to the Bellefontaine line, which runs direct to Calvary Cemetery, close to the scene of the clandestine meeting.

GOVERNOR DIDN'T KNOW

Statistician, Like Mr. Loeb, Takes All the Blame on Himself.

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 14.—The existence of a press bureau conducted for the benefit of Gov. Folk, but of whose workings he denies knowledge, has become known at the Capitol.

The bureau, from which many stories complimentary to the Governor have emanated, is conducted by Archie T. Edmondston, a former St. Louis newspaper reporter and a Folk appointee to the position of statistician in the Department of Labor.

One of the principal duties of Edmondston's position is to write newspaper articles advertising the State and its resources. Since he has held the position he has sent out many such bulletins to daily and weekly newspapers.

Other articles, however, have also been compiled by Edmonston, and have been widely circulated, principally in weekly papers published at county seats. These have had but one purpose, the advertisement of Gov. Folk and what he has done for Missouri.

Several months ago Edmonston compiled statistics showing a great reduction in criminal costs as a result of Gov. Folk's lid.

As soon as the returns of last week's election were in, a series of stories giving Folk credit for the Democratic victory in Missouri began to appear. They consisted of statistics, showing the increased Democratic vote in the counties in which Folk spoke, and commenting upon the fact that there was not such a marked increase in other counties. Attention was also drawn to the vote in St. Louis, where Folk's name was hissed in the Democratic city convention, and which gave the Republican ticket a good majority.

How Legislature Went.

The articles also give statistics on the next Legislature, representing that outside St. Louis nearly every Democrat elected to the Legislature is a Folk man and was elected on a Folk platform.

When Gov. Folk's attention was first called to the "press bureau," he said he had no knowledge that anyone was writing articles complimentary to him, and that he had not seen them.

He said he had never talked with Edmondson regarding any newspaper stories to be written, and that he did not know Edmondston was writing any.

The Governor called Edmondston to his office and the two spent considerable time together. Edmondston took with him copies of papers containing the articles. He is reported to have said to the Governor that the reason that he had never mentioned the matter was that he wished any criticism of the articles to fall on himself.

The Governor said he had directed that no further articles of the kind should be written.

Edmonston said this morning:

"The Governor had absolutely no knowledge of the stories I have been sending out. Every story I sent was absolutely true, and the facts were borne out by statistics I gave. The papers over the State were very anxious for them, and I saw no reason why I should not write the stories.

"I am a newspaper writer and want to keep my hand in. In the evenings at home, I have plenty of spare time, and I saw no reason why I should not use it in that manner.

"I am sorry if anyone has seen fit to criticise the Governor. He knew nothing about it, and if anyone is to be censured I am the one."

HUSBAND ACCUSES MODEL DETECTIVE

Policeman Crowell Is Suspended After Shooting Affray on Washington Avenue.

Ambulance Driver Guy and His Wife Are Locked Up Pending Inquiry.

Daniel T. Guy of 3703 Kossuth avenue, a city ambulance driver, and his wife, Margaret, are held for investigation at the Carr Street Police Station. Guy fired two shots at Detective Halsey R. Crowell at Fourth street and Washington avenue, and struck the detective with his fists, when he discovered the detective in company with Mrs. Guy Tuesday evening.

Crowell, heretofore considered at the Four Courts the police model of propriety, has been suspended and, for the first time in his career will face the Police Board on charges. He was suspended by Lieut. Walsh soon after he was taken to the Carr Street Station after the shooting. He was released.

Guy says he saw Crowell and Mrs. Guy leaving a hotel at Fourth and Locust streets, according to the police report. He says he followed them to Washington avenue where he rushed upon Crowell and struck him in the nose. The detective then reached toward his revolver. Guy says he drew his own revolver and fired twice, both shots missing Crowell.

Guy then ran and jumped on a car which his wife had boarded when he first attacked Crowell. Patrolmen Henderson, Allen and Knight hearing the shots, pursued Guy and took him from the car. They took both men to the Carr Street Station, where Guy readily admitted shooting at Crowell and gave Crowell's relations with his wife as the reason.

Crowell Denies Charge.

Crowell denies being in the hotel with Mrs. Guy and says there was nothing improper in their relations. He admits meeting her by appointment in a wineroom at 110 North Broadway a little while before the shooting. He says Mrs. Guy left a message at headquarters for him to meet her there and that he was walking toward Eads Bridge with Mrs. Guy, an East St. Louis man and Mrs. Walton, also known as Miss Gerty Figgemeier, when Guy shot at him. The East St. Louis man, whose name Crowell does not know, he says, was going to take a bridge car. Crowell is married and lives at 806 Hickory street.

In his statement to the police Guy says he had separated from his wife last summer, and, on being reconciled, went to Creve Coeur with her about a month ago. On the way he found Crowell's card in her pocketbook, he says. He questioned her and she replied that she had hired Crowell to watch Guy during their separation, he says. Guy asked her how much she paid the detective. She said $5 a day, Guy says.

They separated again and Tuesday she made an appointment to meet him at Broadway and Franklin avenue at 9 p. m. He waited there, he says, until Mrs. Guy and Crowell came from the hotel, when he followed them.

Guys Have Two Children.

Guy is 37 years old. His wife is 21. They have been married 12 years and have frequently quarreled and separated. They have two children—Vera, 10 years old, and May, 9 years old. They have recently been living with Mrs. Guy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Flood of 3703 Kossuth avenue.

Mrs. Flood told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Mrs. Guy returned home Tuesday night about 9 o'clock and told her that she had eaten dinner with Guy and that he had left her. Later in the night the police arrested Mrs. Guy.

She left the house without awakening any of the family and leaving the front door open.

Seeks to Enjoin Woman's Fence

Gerald B. O'Reilly asked an injunction Wednesday to restrain Daisy Balson of 5621 Maple avenue from erecting buildings and fences less than 20 feet from Page boulevard on her property fronting Page and Union boulevard and Bartmer avenue. He says she is doing this in violation of a building restriction, and asks that the work already done be torn down. O'Reilly owns a lot on Page boulevard in Chamberlain Park.

MARY INSTITUTE GIRL WHO ELOPED SEEKS DIVORCE

Wife of Dr. Edward Vogelsang Alleges That He Cursed and Struck Her

OUT LATE AT NIGHT

Says He Came Home in Early Morning and Would Not Explain.

ELOPEMENT FROM SCHOOL

Mrs. Vogelsang Left Fashionable School Here to Wed at Ironton.

Mrs. Mary D. Vogelsang, a beautiful brunette prominent in West End society, having apartments in the Kingsbury Building at Delmar and King's Highway boulevard, has sued her husband, Dr. Edward Vogelsang, son of Henry Vogelsang, a grain merchant, for divorce. Dr. Vogelsang now has apartments at 3845A Olive street.

The petition alleges that the husband was guilty of such indignities that the wife could not tolerate him longer and they separated on Nov. 15, 1905. The suit was filed by Harry B. Hawes, counsel for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Vogelsang says that her husband refused to take her to places of amusement.

The plaintiff says that her husband would not return home until the small hours of the morning and when she asked for an explanation, she was met with epithets. Several times, she says, her husband struck her.

She says her husband failed to provide for her support and it was necessary for her to call upon her husband's father for aid.

Mrs. Vogelsang alleges that her husband swore at her in the presence of visitors.

She says her husband is a good physician and has a good income from his practice.

Dr. and Mrs. Vogelsang were married at Ironton June 7, 1898, the marriage being an elopement.

Mrs. Vogelsang was then a pretty student of Mary Institute and her home was in Mexico, Mo. She met Dr. Vogelsang while attending the institute and after a brief courtship they were married.

Dr. Vogelsang is a well known physician and was until a year ago connected with the City Dispensary.

PRESIDENT CASTRO IS REPORTED DEAD

Dutch Cruiser Ordered to Sea if Persistent Rumor Is Verified.

FORT DE FRANCE, Island of Martinique, Nov. 14.—The Dutch crusier Kortenaer arrived here from Willemstad, Island of Curacao, her officers stated, and today that at the time of her departure from Curacao it was reported there persistently and it is generally believed that President Castro of Venezuela is dead, but that his death is being concealed by the Venezuelan Government in order to maintain itself in power.

The Kortenaer has received orders to hasten her preparations to put at sea again, and to leave Fort de France for Laguayra, Venevzuela, if the death of President Castro is confirmed.

The French cruisers Jurien de La Graviero and Du Guay Trouin are off this port.

WOMEN TELL HOW DYER, SHORT $61,500 SPENT HIS MONEY.

Men and Women of Sporting World, Called by Grand Jury Investigating Subtreasury Deficit Say That Suspended Receiving Teller Spent $25 at a Sitting for Drinks.

THREW BUNDLE OF BILLS ON HIS FRIEND'S DESK

As Told Exclusively in Post-Dispatch Shortage Was Accidental Discovery by the Cashier Who Saw Dyer Toss Package of Currency Into Teller Ferguson's Cage.

Women told the Federal grand jury Wednesday how David P. Dyer Jr. short $61,500 in his cage as receiving teller at the Subtreasury, spent money in the "Bad Lands," where he earned the sobriquet "Live Wire." He was not a gambler, though he associated with handbook men. Most of his money was spent for drinks for friends. He frequently spent from $10 to $25 for beer at a single sitting. These facts were communicated to a Post-Dispatch reporter by witnesses subpenaed by the grand jury. His salary was $2000 a year. He has a wife and a child.

Judge Finkelnburg of the United States District Court, instructing the grand jury, told it to take up the Subtreasury shortage immediately and to probe it without prejudice or favor.

"It is a matter of common report," said Judge Finkelnburg, "that a shortage exists in the St. Louis Subtreasury. I have no knowledge of it, but you are instructed to investigate it. It is possible that some employe or employes have been guilty of faithlessness. You will hear only one side, and I caution you not to do the injustice of returning an indictment without first being satisfied of the guilt of the accused.

Col. Dyer Not In Court.

"On the other hand, it is your duty to investigate the evidence before you with absolute fearlessness and thoroughness. The Attorney-General has seen fit to appoint special counsel for the Government in this investigation, and Frederick W. Lehmann will advise you in the investigation. In other cases that come up before you D. P. Dyer, the regularly appointed District Attorney, will advise you."

Lehmann sat in Col. Dyer's chair. Col. Dyer was not in the courtroom.

J. L. Mauran of 46 Vandeventer place, an architect, is foreman of the new jury, which is composed of 19 men. Twenty-three were summoned, but two failed to appear and two were excused. With 19 on the panel it will require 16 to make a quorum and 12 must agree to return an indictment.

Among the witnesses subpenaed in the shortage inquiry are: Josephine Wilson, Hallie Soutnern, Effie O'Neil, Alice Morgan, Emma Massey, Lena Good, Clara Crozat, Joe Rice, former Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner; Mark Gumberts, proprietor of the Louisiana Club; J. P. Roth, former proprietor of the Morgan Club; Phil Moore, saloon keeper; Tom McGrath, former detective and now a saloon keeper; Hugh T. Patterson, Fred L. Steger, Henry H. Steffens, Bent Sharpe, Mathew Taylor, Edward Bates, Richard Burton, Frank Carr, Herman J. Diekneite, James Elam, John Slynn and E. A. Hobbs.

Dyer Robbed in Compton Club.

Light is thrown on Dyer's habits by a police report in the Four Courts records, dated Nov. 28, 1903, and signed by Capt. Joyce of the Manchester Avenue Station. It was addressed to Chief Kiely, and said that David P. Dyer Jr. of 4406 West Belle place complained to the police that while he was eating supper at 1 a. m. in the Compton Club, 217 North Compton avenue, accompanied by two young women, his pocketbook was stolen.

The women were Ruth Stanley and Glen Harris of 2712 Wash street. They were arrested and taken to the Manchester Avenue Station, but nothing incriminating was found when they were searched, and they were released. Four negro musicians at the club were also arrested and released.

Dyer said the pocketbook, which was of red leather three inches long, contained $165—a $50 bill, four $20 bills, three $10 bills and one $5.

The Compton Club was then conducted by Mark Gumperts. Dyer's complaint was made to Patroman Joseph Byrne. The pocketbook and money were never recovered.

Gumberts, now proprietor of the Delmar Roadhouse, has been subpenaed as a witness for the grand jury.

One Camille Huntington, said to have been a beneficiary of Dyer in his liberal moods, has not been found by the deputy marshals who want her to tell the grand jury of Dyer's habits.

Ferguson Always With Dyer.

"I have known Dave for 17 years," said Phil Mohr, who conducts a saloon and wineroom at the southwest corner of Ninth and St. Charles streets. "I knew him when he was a clerk in the Postoffice money order department. He formerly visited my place very frequently. He invariably drank gingerale highballs, alternating with apollinaris water.

"He was always with his friend Ferguson. About a month ago, in the course of a conversation with me, he said:

"'Phil, if I ever go broke, can I touch you for $20?' I replied, 'Why, certainly, Dave.' Then he said, 'Well, I don't think I will go broke very soon.'"

Anna Massey of 2346 Pine street said: "Dave ran a tab here, and he owes me $100 for drinks now."

She later repeated this statement to Secret Service Agent Lee Philpot.

"I've known Dave for about five or six years," said she. "Since the shortage was discovered in the Subtreasury I've heard a lot of talk about him being a 'good fellow.' He never spent any more than $10 or $12 at a time here."

Hugh Pattison, who conducts a saloon and billiard hall at the northeast corner of Ninth and Locust streets, speaks well of Dyer.

"Dave was a very nice fellow," said Pattison. "He hasn't been in my place much of late. A few weeks ago I asked him why he did not get around to see me as often as formerly he had done. He said:

"'Hugh, I'm sorry I can't get around more frequently. I have so many friends in this business that it takes me a long time to get around to see all of them.'

"He never bought wine that I know of. I guess I've known Dave about four or five years. He used to come in about three or four times a week."

Says Dyer Spent $25 a Visit.

Hallie Southern of 2626 Lucas avenue, told a Secret Service agent that Dyer visited her house frequently and spent on an average of $20 or $25 a visit. On the advice of the Secret Service agent who served her with a subpena Miss Southern refused to make a statement for publication.

Dixie Perry of 2656 Lucas avenue has known Dyer for about five years. He was a frequent visitor at her house and spent as much money there as he did at the Southern house.

Lena Good of 2641 Lucas avenue knows Dyer by reputation.

"He never visited my house, but I often heard of his visiting other houses," said Miss Good. "Mr. Dyer used to visit Jennie Van Allen's house when she lived on Twentieth street. Judging from what I have heard he must have been a good spender."

Lena Good is among the witnesses summoned to testify before the grand jury.

Secret service agents Tuesday afternoon and night were looking for Clara Crozat, Effie O'Neil and Jessie Wilson. These women are said to be well acquainted with Dyer and to have benefited by his money-spending proclivities.

How Cashier Found Shortage.

The true story of how the $61,500 shortage in the Subtreasury was discovered in the case of Receiving Teller Dyer by the merest accident, as told exclusively in the Night Edition of Tuesday's Post-Dispatch, will be related to the Federal grand jury which convened at 10 a. m.

Ralph P. Johnson, chief clerk and cashier in the Subtreasury, by accidentally turning his head in the direction of Dyer's cage on the morning of Oct. 5 saw Dyer throw a bundle of money into Paying Teller Ferguson's cage after examination by Johnson revealed the fact that Dyer's cage was short $61,500.

Since the discovery of the shortage and the subsequent examination of the Subtreasury by experts from Washington, Government officials have been silent as to the manner in which the shortage was discovered. To a Post-Dispatch reporter a Government official in position to know, told the story.

On the morning of Oct. 5 Cashier Johnson went into Dyer's cage and checked up his accounts. This was done about every two weeks. Everything seemed all right. The books and cash in Dyer's cage balanced.

Johnson, after his examination of Dyer's money and books, went to his desk. Johnson's desk faces Dyer's cage.

SECOND DEGREE FOR MRS. ARNOLD

State Will Not Try Accused Woman on First Degree Murder Charge.

TROUBLE GETTING JURY

One Talesman Puts More Credence in Newspapers Than Witnesses.

When the trial of Mrs. Bettie Arnold for the murder of Frank L. Phelps, on June 20 last, was called in Judge Bishop's division of the Circuit Court Wednesday morning, the State announced that it would waive the original charge of murder in the first degree and seek conviction for the second degree offense.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Jones made this statement in outlining the prosecution.

The morning was taken up with the selection of the jurors. William Abbott, one of the men called, was asked, with the others, if the newspaper accounts of the supposed murder would influence his consideration of the evidence to be out in the trial. Abbott said it would, as he would place more credence in the newspaper accounts than in the sworn testimony. Judge Bishop then excused Abott, saying that any man who held that view would make no fit juror.

Phelps was killed in a room at 806 Market street. He was shot in the head. The police found a note supposedly from his pen, telling of his intention to commit suicide. This note was afterwards proved to have been written by Mrs. Arnold.

Mrs. Arnold admitted that she smoked opium. She said her husband, William C. Arnold, led her to form the habit. Phelps was a friend of the Arnolds.

Mrs. Arnold was brought from the City Jail to the courtroom, where 12 men will decide her fate in the charge of Deputy Sheriff Wasser. She was gowned in a black suit and had furs around her neck.

Her cheeks were sunken as if she had not slept much. There was a slight flush in her skin over her cheek-bones, but it had an unhealthy tinge.

Charles Noland and Loomis Johnson are the attorneys for Mrs. Arnold. Don C. Summers and Seebert Jones will prosecute the case for the State.

PEACEMAKER IS PUNISHED.

Man Who Butted In on Family Quarrel Punished.

George Brown, 2030 Obear avenue, who was accused in the Dayton Police Court Wednesday of having butted in as peacemaker during a fight between a husband and wife, not only has a sore head for his pains, but was fined $10 by Acting Judge O'Hallaron for the role he played in the domestic fracas.

The couple who quarreled were Frank J. Lawler, former deputy under Constable Mike Kinney of the Fifth District, now a copyist in the Recorder of Deeds' office, and Mrs. Vera Lawler. Mrs. Lawler was also fined $10 for disturbing the peace.

There was a medley of conflicting statements, and it took the court quite a while before the thread of the story was clearly developed.

The case was the first on the docket. When Brown and Mrs. Lawler took their seats she sobbed violently. Judge O'Hallaron moved the case to the end of the docket to give her time to compose herself.

Brown had been calling at the Lawler home at Sixth and Morgan streets, it was developed, and they drank some beer. During Brown's call, Mrs. Lawler testified, he got into an argument with her husband and she went to his aid. She said Brown was ungallant enough to hit her on the ear, had then shoved a glass over his head and cut her own hand.

Brown hadn't much to say of the affair save that Mrs. Lawler got excited over nothing, and the breaking of the glass was an accident.

Lawler declared that he had "had a fuss" with his wife, and when Brown "butted in" his wife attacked Brown.

As they were leaving the courtroom after the fines were imposed without paying them, they were called back by the Marshal. Lawler then gave security for an appeal.

W. F. BENOIST TO WED.

Marriage to Miss Aidelaide Garesche Saturday Morning.

The wedding of Miss Adelaide Garesche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond A. Garesche of Jennings Heights, and William Francis Benoist will take place at the New Cathedral Chapel, Newstead and Maryland avenues, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Solemn high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Gilfillen.

Miss Marguerite Price will be maid of honor and Eugene Benoist, brother of the groom, best man.

The bridemaids will be Miss Sarah Bailey, Miss Adele Hart and Miss Edwina Tutt; the groomsmen, H. Salorgne, Bass Glasgow and Christy Farrar.

The bride will wear an empire gown of white liberty satin trimed with rare old lace, an heirloom in the family.

After the ceremony at the church a wedding breakfast will be given to the bridal party and relatives of the bride and groom at the home of Mrs. Hamilton Farrish, 5223 Westminster place. The bride and groom will leave the same day for a honeymoon journey, and on their return will reside at the Buckingham Hotel.

BOSS'S MONEY AT CRAPS.

Youths Tell How They Lost a Total of $77.

Charles Levin, 19 years old, of 1859 South Tenth street, and Henry Opperman, 21 years old, of 4212 North Broadway, drivers of delivery wagons for the Frank Lind Grocery Co., 807 Franklin avenue, were arrested Wednesday charged with embezzling money collected while delivering goods. They confessed taking the money when locked in the Carr Street Station, and said they had lost it shooting craps in a saloon on Manchester avenue.

Levin told Capt. O'Malley of the Carr Street Station that he returned $13 of the $25 he collected. He said he lost the remainder in the game. Opperman confessed to failing to return $84, and said that amount was also lost in the game.

opening of the gate. The servants who her principally at the Pavilion of St. reseponded recognized "Mme. C.," who left the mansion hurriedly.

9A. In the absence of her husband and notably in the course of a journey of "M. C.," "Mme. C." received Count de Castellane every day at her residence, and, upon his arrival, gave orders to the servants to turn away further visitors. The Countess de Castellane, going one day to the residence of "Mme. C.," was told by the servants that "Mme. C." was not at home, although at that time the Count was on the premises.

9B. While "M. C." was at Paris two maids of "Mme. C.," who were mounting guard to permit Count de Castellane to emerge by the back stairway, in case of the arrival of the husband, did in reality see him so descend.

3C. The servants of "Mme C." were not ignorant that their mistress met Count de Castellane, and one of them frequently, sometimes three times a day, carried her letters to the Count. There were frequent scenes between "M. and Mme. C." on the subject of the Count de Castellane.

Dined While Wife Was Away.

10. While the Countess de Castellane was absent in America, Count de Castellane was intimate with "Mme. D." He dined with her in a private room at the Cafe Anglais, and ordered orchids for the decoration of the table.

11. On May 11, 1904, while the Countess de Castellane was absent, Count de Castellane took "Mme. D." to the Chateau Des Marais, where he passed the afternoon with her.

12. For several years, Count de Castellane rented in Paris a number of places for his rendezvous, in particular No. 26 Rue Lasteyrie, No. 26 Rue Rochefoucauld, where he was known under the name of "Pascal;" No. 16 Rue de General-Foy, the Pavilion of St. James, and No. 5 Rue Cave, at Neuilly. At these addresses he received, to the knowledge of several of his servants and chauffeurs, the woman with whom he was intimate, belonging to the monde and demimonde classes.

Here follows a long list of dates extending from the years 1901 to 1905. The text of the decree does not go into the details of the Countess' bill of particulars, "inasmuch as Madame de Castellane submitted letters and documents, several of which were from the Count himself, establishing sufficiently that since their marriage, notably in 1898, 1902, and 1905, he had relations and correspondence with various women of easy virtue, which was most offensive to a wife, thus rendering himself guilty of acts justifying a divorce, and as he had failed to establish a reconciliation, the petition of Madame de Castellane is granted."

Court Warns Husband.

The Count's demand for alimony of $50,000 annually was denied on the ground that the guilty party in a divorce loses all the advantages accorded either by a marriage contract, or in the course of married life, and, consequently, the Court refused to allow not $50,000 per annum, but the $30,000 which the Countess offered and which, it now seems, the Count claimed to have accented Oct. 25.

The Count also took a precaution against the unreasonable attitude of the Count toward allowing his wife to take her children out of France by providing that in case of his refusal judicial authorization could be granted.

The decree orders the Countess to send the children on Thursdays and Sundays to their grandmother, the Marquise de Castellane, and their surrender to their father for a week at New Year's and Easter and for a month in the summer.

The separation became known late in January, when the Countess left the Grand Trianon—her magnificent town residence on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne—by night, and went to the Hotel Bristol. She returned to her town residence Feb. 1, but that was only after Count Boni had departed for the south of France.

Shortly afterward the Countess brought action for a divorce. Her attorneys were Edmond Kelly, a distinguished American lawyer at Paris, and Maitre Cruppi.

During the plea of Maitre Cruppi at the trial two weeks ago love letters were introduced to prove the Countess' claims. The following was written to the Count by a woman who has very many friends among men and very many enemies among good women:

"Dearest Little Boni Mine—I cannot let Christmas pass without sending wishes that God may grant all your desires and keep you in that health and energy which makes all my joy. I know you are so much occupied with such pretty women that I cannot enjoy alone your sweet companionship. But you will never have a truer friend. Thine, "LUCIE DE LEMNOS."

Discovered, He Beat Her.

One day, only a few months after her marriage, 11 years ago, the Countess approached her husband, who was writing. Leaning affectionately on his shoulder, she glanced down at his desk and read:

"Thou alone are lacking to my happiness, Boni."

Realizing that she had seen the concluding words of his love missive, the Count sprang to his feet, and, in a towering rage, struck his wife in the face. Nor was his anger checked by any lingering shame because of a servant's presence.

Maitre Cruppi told, too, of the Countess going to her husband's bedroom one morning. She called to him; no answer. "He sleeps soundly," she thought, and approached the bed, where a motionless figure was stretched. It was a dummy.

As the Countess left the bedchamber she met her husband coming from the room where slept one of their guests, a married woman, who bears a noble and historic name, whom they never called only "Madame A." He read a letter signed by this woman; the Countess found it soon after the epis de of the lay figure in an unlocked writing desk in the Castellane chateau. It ran:

"I must see thee in our nest. Five days have passed since that happy Wednesday, and no word from thee. But I know, I am certain this is against thy will.

Precaution Taken Nov. 7.

"What joy to be in our little home in Paris again to pass sweet, exquisite moments together. My one dearest desire is to render thee happy. I wish thee to be my only 'Some One' and thou are willing to be. But tell me thou are happy; tell me that all my doubts are but a horrid nightmare.

"Thou are my only friend. Write me, my dear friend, to console me; I burn thy letters quickly. I love thee. I love thee."

Eleven years ago last February Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould announced the engagement of Miss Anna Gould to Count Boni de Castellane. One month later they were married. The Count, whose family was one of the most aristocratic in France, had been in America six months, ostensibly to hunt "big game." He disavowed his intention to meet an heiress with a view toward repairing his fallen fortunes.

Count Boni appeared often as a huntsman, and he rode to the Meadowbrook and Monmouth County (N. Y.) hounds. While hunting with Peter F. Collier's pack, he met casually, Mr. and Mrs. George Gould. After a few visits at Lakewood, Castellane joined them in a trip to Canada. During the visit to Montreal Count Boni and Miss Gould became engaged.

Courted Virginia Fair.

During the previous summer at Newport, the Count had paid devoted court to both Miss Virginia Fair, now Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr., and to Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, now the Duchess of Marlborough, involved in marital trouble, too. Both these heiresses discouraged Count Boni's devotion.

Mrs. Paran Stevens, during those days, appeared as a friend of Castellane and even arranged a dinner to which Miss Anna Gould came. At the time there was a story current that the Count staked his last dollar on a dinner party for the Goulds, in hopes of finally winning Miss Anna.

The engagement lasted a bare four weeks and the Marquis and Marquise de Castellane and Count Jean de Castellane came from France for the wedding.

On March 4, 1895, the Count and Miss Gould were married in the George Gould mansion, 857 Fifth avenue, New York. Archbishop Corrigan performed the ceremony, although it has been denied that the Countess renounced Presbyterianism at the time of her marriage. A few days after the marriage the Count and Countess de Castellane went to France.

The haughty aristocracy, known as the Faubourg de Saint Germaine set, were disinclined to welcome the $15,000,000 American bride, and for awhile little was heard of the man who won her. After the birth of the first son, the Castellanes began to cut an astonishing figure, which has kept them in the public eye constantly.

the cages of the paying teller and coin teller intervening.

While Dyer's cage was being checked up it is said that Marshall B. Ferguson, paying teller, was not in his cage. He was out on personal business.

Saw Dyer Toss Currency Roll.

Johnson had been at his desk only five or ten minutes when his attention was attracted toward Dyer's cage by the ringing of a telephone bell or some similar sound, according to the official who relates the story. He glanced in the direction of the sound.

He saw Dyer passing Ferguson's cage. He saw Dyer toss a bundle of paper money into Ferguson's cage.

Knowing that Dyer had no business with Ferguson's cash, Johnson suspected that something was wrong.

The informant says that Johnson waited a few minutes and then went into Dyer's cage and checked up Dyer's accounts. He found that Dyer's cage was $61,500 short.

Going later into Ferguson's cage, Johnson is said to have found a package of bills, resembling the package thrown by Dyer and amounting to the exact total of the shortage, or $61,500.

Johnson called Subtreasurer Thomas J. Akins and when Akins had heard the story Dyer was called into Akin's office. There Dyer was confronted with the discovery.

Dyer Confessed Concealment.

It is said Dyer confessed the shortage, saying he had only discovered it Sept. 27, and that he was balancing them with money from Ferguson's cage. Dyer said that he could not account for the shortage, did not know when the money had disappeared and could not explain the discrepancy between his books and his cash.

Dyer's endeavor is said to have been to get enough money from Ferguson's cage to tide him over the checking up, and it was after this checking up by Johnson that Dyer is said to have been seen returning the money to Ferguson's cage.

It is not known that Ferguson was cognizant of Dyer's act, although they were boon companions.

Dyer and Ferguson were suspected as soon as the Government experts, asked for by Akins, arrived and began their investigation of the shortage. Assistant United States Treasurer Gideon C. Bantz and his corps of expert assistants, two weeks counting the $20,000,000 in the Subtreasury and going over the books. The books were all right, but the shortage of $61,500 in cash was established.

The shortage was found in the currency, the coin being intact. In this connection the officials are investigating a item of $61,500 worth of coin given to a World's Fair employe in exchange for currency between April 15 and May 15, 1904.

Dyer Was Suspected.

It is said that after Bantz's report to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington, Dyer was held responsible for the shortage and instructions were issued by Attorney-General Lehmann, acting assistant to the Attorney-General, to begin an investigation at once before the grand jury.

Lehmann was appointed to take charge of the case when District Attorney De F. Dyer asked to be relieved of any hand in the matter because of his son's connection with the case.

Col. Dyer has made the assertion that if his son is prosecuted he will resign and defend him. Horace Dyer, Assistant District Attorney, has made the same statement.

In the event that either Dyer or Ferguson is called as a witness before the grand jury proceedings against them cannot be had, as a witness before the grand jury is free from prosecution, the case in which he testifies. Neither, it is said, has been subpenaed.

Dyer and Ferguson are each under $20,000 bond. In the event, however, that a bond is to be forfeited, that bond would also fall on Subtreasurer Akins, who is under $100,000 bond, unless a special act of Congress relieves him of that forfeiture. It is said that Akins' political friends are preparing to urge a special act of Congress, absolving him from forfeiting his $100,000 bond.

Since the discovery of the shortage special precautions have been taken at the Subtreasury. Opaque glass windows have been installed, covering the wire lattice around the windows of the tellers.

These precautions were taken to keep persons in the lobby, outside the windows, from seeing into the cages where the money, thousands of dollars at a time, is stacked.

Between the cages of the different tellers is wire lattice work. A sliding door at the back of each cage permits the teller to go in and out of his cage from the rear. These doors are known to have been often left open before the shortage was discovered. The present tellers have been notified to be careful that these doors are closed.

Between thirty and forty witnesses have been subpenaed to appear before the grand jury to give testimony in the shortage investigation. Subtreasurer Akins, Cashier Johnson, Chief Wilkie of the Secret Service, Assistant Treasurer Bantz, Secret Service Operators McHugh, Philpot and Ritchie, and several employes in the local Subtreasury are among the number.

The members of the grand jury are J. L. Mauran of St. Louis, Edward M. Read of St. Louis, John M. Nute of St. Louis, Hugh L. White of Potosi, C. J. Kenrick of Water Grove, A. O. Schramm of Flat River, Walter McKittrick of St. Louis, W. A. Layman of St. Louis, E. T. Williams of St. Louis, F. Churchill Whitemore of St. Louis, A. G. Souther of St. Louis, Edwin R. Gish of St. Louis, Leslie Courtney of St. Louis, J. W. Hensley of Owensville, James A. Condon of Sullivan, H. N. Gisi of Ste. Genevieve, E. H. Zelle of St. Louis, R. L. Horsman of Salem, and Edward Biesbarth of De Soto.

Howard Gould Is Grateful.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Howard Gould, brother of the Countess de Castellane, who is in this city, when informed that his sister had been granted a divorce from the Count, said he was grateful for it, though he had no comment to make upon it. The decree of the Court with respect to the children not leaving France without the consent of the father, he said, was rather to be expected, as it was in accordance with the French custom.

PRIZE STORIES AND A FEW OTHERS TOLD BY ADVERTISING MEN

Leo Landau Won Title of "Prince of Story Tellers" In Contest Which Went on at Luncheon—Martin Collins the "Near Prince" and the "Also Rans" Were Numerous.

LEO LANDAU is "The Prince of Story Tellers" of the St. Louis Advertising Men's League. He won the title at a contest Tuesday in competition with nine other members of the league. Martin Collins won the title of "Near Prince" and Stephen W. Bolles, Postmaster Frank Wyman, Gene Foute, R. E. Lee, Frank Gaienne, W. S. Hanna and J. M. Woodman were "also rans."

The story-telling contest took place at the regular luncheon at the Planters Hotel. According to the schedule, each man was to tell three stories and the listeners were to decide by their votes which man told the best stories and told them the best. The speakers were asked to tell two stories first and save one for final delivery.

President W. N. Aubuchon was the toastmaster and he introduced Mr. Bolles as "the first infliction." Mr Bolles disclaimed any ability as a storyteller. He said that but one president of the United States ever told stories and he never engaged in reminiscence deliberately and with malice aforethought. So Mr. Bolles, hoping to succeed Mr. Roosevelt, was unwilling to jeopardize his chances by telling a story when he had no particular point he wished to emphasize.

"While I have withdrawn from the contest," said he, "I will tell one little story to explain my reasons. I realize that I would not hit the mark, so I will not try."

An Englishman Story.

Then he told this story:

An Englishman visiting this country wished to see all forms of life and a friend took him to a cheap theater, where one of the attractions was a knife thrower. The perfomer, to show his skill, cast his glittering blades at a woman standing against a board. One knife passed between the right arm and her body, a second just missed her cheek, a third struck the board over her head and the fourth grazed her left ear. Then the Englishman got up and insisted on leaving the place.

When his friend remonstrated and asked the reason, the Englishman replied: "Oh, I say! The blawsted chump is no good, don't you know. He missed her every time. I thought he would hit her with the fourth knife, but, bay Jove, he missed the mark."

Postmaster Wyman frankly admitted that he was handicapped by the presence of two women at the luncheon and said that he would revise his stories accordingly. Then he told of the conversation held by Rosenbaum and Jacobs concerning their mutual friend Simon. Rosenbaum insisted that Simon was stingy, while Jacobs defended him.

Bought a Drink Almost.

"Did you ever know him to buy a drink?" asked Rosenbaum. In telling the story, Mr. Wyman used a dialect that the types will not reproduce, but which can be imagined.

"Well, no," said Jacobs. "Yes, I knew him to offer to buy a drink once—almost."

Then Jacobs explained how he had met Simon, who passed the time of day, glanced several times at an adjacent saloon door, and finally asked:

"Well, what will we have? Rain or snow?"

Gene Foute told the longest stories that were heard. In one of them he narrated at great length how he had lunched at the same table with a strange young woman, how she refused to drink cocktails and wine, how she refused to tell her name or accept his card and departed. When he settled his check the cashier demanded $2.45 to pay for "his sister's dinner." The "sister" had left a small grip which Mr. Foute took with him to his room. It took Mr. Foute 15 minutes to tell the story. He said he finally opened the valise. Then he sat down.

The obliging Mr. Aubuchon, who had evidently been loaded in advance, asked "What was in the grip?"

"Chestnuts," yelled Mr. Foute. And not a man laughed.

A Bachelor and a Baby.

Then Mr. Foute tried again with a longer story about a crusty bachelor who agreed to take charge of a woman's baby on a train which had stopped at a station while she sent a telegram. The train started and the man grabbed the baby, ran to the platform and threw the infant to a woman. He returned to the car to meet the mother entering at the other door. The story left the crusty bachelor in Jersey City, the mother in a hospital and Mr. Foute no place in particular, while the listeners were wondering what it was all about.

R. E. Lee told of an old negro mammy who gave up her place as household servant to get married, having saved $60. The next day she resumed her place in the household and explained that her new husband had taken the $60 and gone on his honeymoon trip.

Then Mr. Landau told the prize-winning story. He used the same characters that Mr. Wyman had used and he had even a better object.

Rosenbaum and Jacobs went boating with a German, who asked them if they could swim. They said that they could not and were warned that the wind might make the water rough and upset the boat.

This catastrophe did occur and the German swam ashore and was feeling sorry for his two fares who had been drowned when he saw them on the shore beside him. Rosebaum explained that they could not swim, but that when they were thrown in the water they talked and talked and talked and soon reached the bank. And as Mr. Landau imitated Mr. Rosenbaum's explanation he imitated that gentleman's eloquent gestures and it was readily seen how Rosenbaum and Jacobs had talked themselves to the shore.

A Poker Bluff.

Here is his other story.

An Irishman, a German and a Hebrew were playing poker. The Irishman had four jacks, the German four queens and the Hebrew four kings. After a great deal of betting, the Irishman called.

"I have four queens," said the German. Thereupon the Irishman grabbed him, beat and kicked him and then threw him into the corner. He then asked the Hebrew what he had.

"Nothing at all," said the Hebrew. "I vos only bluffing."

Martin Collins, who declared that he was the only Democrat living in St. Louis south of Chouteau avenue, told of a German friend who objected to the proposition to give a pension to firemen. He said that he was opposed to such a scheme and describing his vote, said:

"I scratched out 'No,' unt voted 'Yes, don't give it to them.'"

Frank Gaiennie's stories did not attract much attention, but his moral was appreciated. It was: "Hot air will send a balloon up, but it will not keep it there."

J. M. Woodson's prelude was better than his stories. He was the last man called and he complained that, being last on the list was a handicap.

"As I have heard my stories told," he said, "I have thought of others." Then he told the "others."

The prize was a box of cigars and by vote of the league, Mr. Landau divided them with his fellow members.

SCOLDED GIRL DRANK POISON

Her Mother Had Objected to Florence Schaumann's Going to Theater.

DEVOTED TO MATINEES

Her Father Ended His Life a Year Ago by Drinking Carbolic Acid.

With the single word, good-by, on her lips, Florence Schaumann, 16 years old, tried to end her life by drinking carbolic acid at her home, 4429 Maffitt avenue, Tuesday night. She was saved by the prompt work of her sister and mother, who, after doing all in their power, called a physician. She was later taken to the City Hospital. She was badly burned about the lips but will recover.

The girl's attempt to end her life followed a reproof of her mother. Without replying she walked into her room, raised the bottle to her lips in a melodramatic manner and drank a little of the acid in the presence of her sister, Laura. She had evidently been prepared for a scolding and had the acid with her. Her mother does not know when she purchased it.

"Florence was always of a romantic disposition," said Mrs. Schaumann, a motherly woman of about 45 years, to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "She was fond of the theater and I found out that she had been going to matinees when I supposed that she was at work at a telephone exchange. Tuesday I learned that she had not been at work for several days, though she had taken her lunch and car fare with her in the morning.

Thinks It Was a Bluff.

"She is just a gay, giddy, thoughtless girl and had a lot of girl friends who went to the matinees with her. I do not think she really intended to kill herself. I think she just wanted to frighten us a little. It will be a good lesson to her, and I don't think she will do such a thing again."

Mrs. Schaumann has five children, and Florence has been helping support the family. Louis Schaumann, the husband and father, committed suicide by drinking acid July 15, 1905. Mrs. Schaumann almost broke down when a coroner about her husband's suicide and begged to be excused from talking about it.

"It had nothing to do with Florence's action," she said.

COW WORRIES MILLIONAIRE.

David Rankin Asks Summons for Woman Owner.

David Rankin, millionaire and philanthropist, who has offices in the Wainwright building, appeared in the Dayton street Police Court Wednesday and asked that a summons be issued for Mrs. Mary Babbit of 4331 Page avenue. He said she kept a Jersey cow tethered in a vacant lot which he owns at the southeast corner of Newstead and Cook avenues. Mr. Ranken said that a section had been broken down in a five-foot barbed wire fence which surrounds the lot. Whether this was done by the woman or the cow he did not know.

Assistant City Attorney Noonan, to whom Mr. Rankin was referred by the police, told him that he did not think the matter was covered in the city ordinances. He suggested that Mr. Rankin confer with a Justice of the Peace regarding the means to be pursued to oust the cow from the pasture.

CATARRH

Is a Constitutional Disease

Whatever organ or passage of the body it affects, and requires a constitutional remedy for its radical and permanent cure.

It depends on an impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood, which keeps the mucous membrane of the affected organ or passage in a state of inflammation, and causes an excessive, debilitating and generally offensive discharge; also ringing noises, headaches, partial deafness and weak eyes.

These are facts, not mere theories, and impress the importance of careful attention to this disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. By its purifying, enriching and revitalizing effect upon the blood, it allays inflammation and establishes healthy action of all the mucous membranes, removes the cause and effects radical and permanent cures of all forms of catarrh.

This is the testimony of thousands.

At the same time this medicine strengthens and tones the stomach, perfects digestion, and builds up the whole system.

It combines the best specific for Catarrh with the best stomach tonics, appetizers and digestives.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is a Constitutional Remedy

In the usual liquid form or in the chocolated tablets knows as SARSATABS. All druggists everywhere or by mail. 100 doses one dollar.

☞ The most common and easily developed form of catarrh is nasal catarrh or catarrh of the head, which is greatly aggravated by the sudden changes of weather at this time of year. In the treatment of this catarrh Hood's Sarsaparilla is greatly aided by the pleasant antiseptic tablets, Catarrlets, a solution of which is snuffed up the nose and affords prompt relief, deodorizes the discharge and sweetens the breath. Price, 50c. of druggists or promptly by mail.

HAULING TO CEASE ON KING'S HIGHWAY

This Feature of Board's Plans Causes Several Remonstrances.

PITZMAN OFFERS METHOD

He Believes Division of Work Into Three Strips Will Cause Delay.

A public hearing on the proposed widening of the middle section of the King's Highway boulevard system was held in the audience chamber of the City Hall by the Board of Public Improvements Wednesday, with several hundred property owners present. A number spoke for and against the improvement.

Julius Pitzman, a surveyor and engineer, suggested that, instead of dividing the boulevard into three sections, as the board had done, and instituting three sets of suits to condemn property, condemnation proceedings be begun at once and the boulevard treated as a whole. He regarded his plan as the cheaper and more expeditious.

The board's plan provides that the first section shall extend from the Mississippi to Southampton Division; the second from Southampton Division to Penrose street and the third from Penrose street to the Chain of Rocks.

Assistant City Counselor Skinker, who followed Pitzman, declared that the board's plans as outlined would prove the cheapest and most advisable from every point. He cited figures.

W. C. Morris, vice-president and general manager of the Christy Fire Clay Co., informed the board that his company would donate land along the system for a park, subject to certain restrictions.

A number of property owners spoke against the board's plan not to permit heavy hauling to be done on the boulevard after it is widened.

Gustav A. Bauman, who owns property at Easton avenue and King's highway, and William H. Redemeyer, at Cabanne avenue and King's highway, spoke in favor of permitting hauling on the boulevard. Henry Beckman, representing the Progress Brick Co., at Arsenal street and King's highway, said his firm wanted the privilege of doing heavy hauling.

During the hearing it developed that the board would not disturb present business houses on King's highway, between Page and Delmar boulevards, but that that portion would be left open to general traffic.

DIRT PROBLEM FOR HADLEY.

Bates Says Legality of Hauling Is State Question.

Councilman Cramer will write a letter to Attorney-General Hadley asking for an opinion whether the United Railways Co. has a right to haul freight and earth from excavations through the streets of the city on cars.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Council, City Counselor Bates rendered an opinion, in reply to a resolution introduced by Cramer, that the Attorney-General was the proper official to pass on the question.

"The question whether a corporation chartered by the State exceeds the powers granted by the State is one for the State," the City Counselor wrote.

City Counselor Bates also stated the opinion that if the United Railways Co., in hauling dirt, defiled the streets, the city could stop this in the exercise of its police powers. The police and the Street Department, the City Counselor suggested, could bring the company into the Police Court on a charge of defiling the streets.

Councilman Cramer announced an intention of introducing a resolution at the next session of the Council calling on the Police Department to prevent the dropping of dirt from cars on the street.

GEN. BELL'S BOY A GIRL.

Named It Theodore Roosevelt—Nurse Was Mistaken.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 14.—Gen. Sherman Bell is in the dumps. He has been moody and reticent for a month and all because the child he named Theodore Roosevelt Bell is a girl instead of a boy. Bell was in Cripple Creek a month ago and the mistake of the nurse caused a message to be sent to him stating he was the father of a boy. Bell promptly wired President Roosevelt that the boy was to bear his name and was congratulated by the President. When Bell reached home the next morning he was thunderstruck to find that the baby was a girl.

A SUDDEN COLD.

Miss Helen Sauerbier, of 815 Main St., St. Joseph, Mich., writes an interesting letter on the subject of catching cold, which cannot fail to be of value to all women who catch cold easily.

PERUNA ADVISED FOR SUDDEN COLDS

It Should be Taken According to Directions on the Bottle, at the First Appearance of the Cold.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 1901.—Last winter I caught a sudden cold which developed into an unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat, depriving me of my appetite and usual good spirits. A friend who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it and I sent for a bottle at once, and I am glad to say that in three days the phlegm had loosened, and I felt better, my appetite returned and within nine days I was in my usual good health.

—Miss Helen Sauerbier.

Peruna is an old and well tried remedy for colds. No woman should be without it.

Pump Up Your Tires With Nitrogen!

If you want them to remain inflated longer and don't mind the expense.

In Europe chauffeurs prefer nitrogen, which does not "leak" as rapidly as air, and can be had at moderate price under pressure in steel bottles, equipped with flexible tube, ending in a nozzle that may be screwed to the valve of the tire.

ROWER DROWNED, BOAT SAVED DIEL

St. Louis Salesman Has Cold Plunge in a Kentucky Lake.

To cling to an overturned boat in cold lake water after a companion had been drowned, was the experience of C. H. Diel of 5061 Cote Brilliante avenue, a salesman of the Carleton Dry Goods Co., who returned Tuesday from a hunting trip to Reelfoot Lake, near Henderson, Ky. The man drowned was James Haynes, a professional rower, who was piloting the skiff in which both went out after ducks last Monday.

After going a mile through water and weeds, they came on a flock of ducks. Diel brought down four of them and then handed the gun to the rower, who wanted to take a shot. As Haynes stood up to fire, the boat overturned and both men were thrown into the lake. Haynes tried to catch hold of the boat and failed. Then he began to swim toward a stump 50 feet away. Within ten feet of the stump he went down, pulled by his heavy rubber boots, and his companion never saw him again.

Diel crawled on top of the boat, and remained there till he was rescued by men from a sawmill near by.

Tricked by Dyspepsia

The Doctor Couldn't Tell Where The Trouble Lay.

"For the past seven years I have been a victim of dyspepsia and chronic constipation and have consulted the most noted specialists to be found on diseases of this character. None, however, seemed to locate the difficulty or give relief. In addition to this medical treatment, I have resorted to the use of many remedies and have given them faithful trial, but all to no purpose.

Upon the recommendation of a close friend, I purchased a 50c package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and in less than five days noticed that I was receiving more benefit than from any remedy I had used before. I continued to use the tablets after each meal for one month and by that time my stomach was in a healthy condition, capable of digesting anything which my increasing appetite demanded.

I have not experienced any return of my former trouble, though three months have elapsed since taking your remedy."

We wish that you could see with your own eyes the countless other bona-fide signed letters from grateful men and women all over the land who had suffered years of agony with dyspepsia, tried every known remedy and consulted eminent specialists without result, until they gave Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. Like the doctor above, they couldn't locate the seat of the trouble.

Dyspepsia is a disease which has long baffled physicians. So difficult of location is the disease that cure seems next to miraculous. There is only one way to treat dyspepsia—to supply the elements which nature has ordained to perform this function and to cause them to enter the digestive organs, supplying the fluids which they lack. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets alone fill these requirements, as is shown by the fact that 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada unite in recommending them to their patients for stomach disorders.

We do not claim or expect Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure anything but disordered conditions of the stomach and other digestive organs, but this they never fail to do. They work upon the inner lining of the stomach and intestines, stimulate the gastric glands and aid in the secretion of juices necessary to digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. One box will frequently effect a perfect cure. If in doubt and wish more adequate proof send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a sample package free. F. A. Stuart Co., 61 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE OHIO OIL JURORS ALLEGED

Findlay Prosecutor Examines Men Who Heard Case Against Standard.

TRUST WAS CONVICTED

Jurors Sang Hymns During Deliberation — Judge Gave $5000 Fine.

FINDLAY, O., Nov. 14.—Prosecutor David had the members of the Standard Oil petit jury before him this afternoon examining them.

An attempt at bribery at the recent trial is given as the cause.

Judge Banker recently fined the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio $5000, the penalty for one offense, after conviction at Fondlay of conspiracy in restrain of trade in violation of the Valentine anit-trust law. The Standard was allowed time to file a bill of exceptions.

The jury brought in a verdict at 4:35 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 19, finding the defendant "guilty in the manner and form as the defendant stands charged on the information." The Judge thanked the jury and said is deserved all the credit and thanks which were due for its patience and close attention to the case. The jury had deliberated 32 hours.

Jurors Sang Hymns.

A touch of the dramatic marked the two closing hours of the deliberation of the case. Hymns were sung during all but 10 minutes of this time, when one juror took up the time by explaining why he opposed conviction.

There was not the slightest levity about this hymnal service. The jurors had then been many hours without sleep and had wrangled long. As one familiar hymn after another was sung it was evident that a spirit of fraternalism was gaining headway in the small chamber.

One of the most astute methods employed by the Standard to escape the anti-trust laws came to light when the president of the Manhattan Oil Co., a Standard subsidiary, swore, at the Findlay trial, that the controlling stock of the Manhattan was owned by a holding company in London.

NO THREATS IN LETTER.

Plankintons Received Merely Request for Large Gift.

The letter written from St. Louis to William Woods Plankinton of Milwaukee, asking for $25,000, which the St. Louis police here have been investigating, has been returned by Chief Creecy to the Chief of Police of Milwaukee, and the matter will probably be dropped.

The letter bore the signatures of Joseph and Josephine Gahling of 722 Carroll street. Joseph and Josephine Vahling, an elderly pair in straightened circumstances, living at 723 Carroll street, denied all knowledge of the communication.

The letter was a simple request for money, and contained no threats. It congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Plankinton on the birth of a baby, heir to the Plankinton millions, and asked that the money be sent to the writers at once. It was poorly spelled.

The Plankinton baby was born Nov. 4. Wide publicity was given to the birth at the time, as the child is heir to $12,000,000 left by John Plankinton, a wealthy packer. The mother of the baby is a daughter of James Stewart, a well-known contractor, and formerly lived in St. Louis.

TO SAVE PAYNE'S HOME.

Society Formed to Prevent Destruction of Humble Cottage.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—If the plan of Matilda Ackley Donahu is carried out, the birthplace and home of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," at East Hampton, Long Island, will be preserved as a museum. The old mansion, which until recently, has withstood the attacks of time, has been bought by St. Luke's Episcopal Church of East Hampton to be razed for the erection of a modern parish building.

Miss Donahu and others protested against the demolition of the old landmark and a society is being formed to purchase the house and adjoining land. Miss Donahu has subscribed $100. Anyone giving $50 will be counted as one of the "founders;" those giving $10, "patrons" and those contributing $1 or more, "fellows." The movement promises to be successful.

Capital Stock Increased.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—Three pipeline companies controlled by the Standard Oil Co. filed notices in the State Department to day of heavy increases in their capital stock. They are the Crescent Pipe Line Co. of Philadelphia, whose capital has been increased from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000; the Southern Pipe Line Co., Oil City, from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and the Northern Pipe Line Co., Oil City $1,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Woman Died in Jail.

Within 24 hours after she had been locked in the County Jail in Belleville on a charge of drunkenness, Mrs. Julia Hunt of East St. Louis died at the age of 63 years. She had been absent from the jail but four days when she was sent back to serve 20 days on a like charge and was taken ill at once. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from alcoholism. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

GIFTS CAN'T ATONE FOR PAST ROBBERY

Speaker Before Baptist Congress Talks Plainly Business Ethics.

DEVIL CAN'T BE SAINT

Wrong to Undersell and Then Raise Prices, Says Dr. Greene.

When Rev. Dr. W. C. Bitting, in welcoming the National Baptist Congress to the Second Baptist Cruch said, "there is nothing in the world that Baptists are afraid to discuss," some of the hearers wondered if a mental reservation had been made. They were soon after convinced that he was right, when Rev. Dr. B. A. Greene of Evanston, Ill., denounced "corporation rescality" and combinations to destroy competition in terms that reminded everyone present of the practices widely charged against the richest member of the Baptist Church.

The subject of the Rev. Mr. Green's address was "The Ethics of the Competitive System in Business."

"Bigness does not take the taint out of colossal fraud," he said. "After generosity dot not atone for past robbery. Man is a unit, and he must be ethical from start to finish. He can not make money like the devil and give it away like a saint. It is wrong to undersell and then raise the price. It is wrong to waste wealth to crush a competitor, to combine with a Legislature to kill off good men. Corporation rascality behind closed office doors has been exposed in New York and this has been good for the entire land."

In his address Dr. O. P. Gifford of Buffalo said that hell was a failure, that it was "not hot enough." He declared that fear, as an incentive to righteous living, was out of date. He said that 75 years ago the preacher painted word pictures of the lake of brimstone and everlasting torment where his hearers saw the burning of living flesh, and their fright kept them good. Such an exposition today, he said, would cause an audience to regard a minister with much the same curiosity that they would show in examining a dusty spinning wheel.

At the afternoon session, Dr. J. D. S. Riggs, president of Shurtleff College, presided. Judge Sledon made the address of welcome in place of Gov. Folk, who was too busy to attend. After Judge Spencer, Rev. Dr. N. Luccock spoke.

Other speakers were: Prof. E. D. Dargan of Louisville, Rev. Howard L. Jones of Chattanooga and Augustus L. Abbott of St. Louis.

Says Wife Wanted Separation.

Harry Frisch wants a divorce from Rose Frisch because she told him he was disgusting to her eyesight and because she exclaimed in loud tones in the presence of others that she prayed to be separated from her husband. He also says, in a petition filed in the Circuit Court, that she failed to cook his meals and would not recognize his relatives and told him she did not care for him. They were married March 17, 1904, and separated Oct. 12, 1906.

Schumann-Heink's Recital.

Mme. Schumann-Heink's song recital at the Odeon Tuesday evening brought out a gathering of music lovers who filled the balcony and half-filled the parquette. Her program was from the works of Handel, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Krebs and Strauss. It included the cycle of eight songs, "Frauenliebe and Leben," by Schumann and three songs with organ accompaniment, all of which were particularly enjoyable. Some disappointment was expressed that the singer sang only in German; even in her encores.

CATLIN ITEMIZES RUBBER BAND BILL

Millionaire's Son Conscientious in Reporting Campaign Expenses.

FLANIGAN WAS PAID $600

State Committee Employed Him to Make Stone's Existence Burdensome.

According to the sworn statements of campaign expenses filed by candidates under the corrupt practices act, Theron E. Catlin, millionaire's son, spent in his successful race for a seat in the State Legislature, over half as much as Charles F. Joy spent to become Recorder of Deeds. The former place pays $375 in all. The latter position pays $4000 a year and has the disposal of 48 jobs, which pay a total of $58,239.96 a year.

Catlin spent, according to the statements, $243.40, while Joy spent $401.75. John Moroney and Louis F. Zepp, two other candidates for the State Legislature, according to their sworn statements, spent $16.50 and $48.25 respectively on the campaign.

Catlin's statement is itemized down to rubber bands. The statements of other candidates read about as follows: "Postage and car fare, $30; printing, $25." Following is Catlin's statement in full:

Sept. 29—To william G. Caulfield for campaign fund of H. S. Caulfield	$150 00
Oct. 9—Notary fee for certification of nomination	50
Oct. 11—A. C. Orrick, advertising	40 00
Oct. 16—Photographs	6 00
Oct. 17—P. M. Hanson, assessment Republican City Committee	25 00
Oct. 18—Printing cards	9 75
Nov. 3—Rubber bands	65
Nov. 5—Printing for cards	9 00
Nov. 5—Expended by B. J. Taussig for postage	2 50

Flanigan Cost $600.

The statement of receipts and expenditures, filed with Recorder of Deeds by the Republican State Committee, shows that $23,458.75 was received for the campaign, while $25,376.94 was spent, leaving an unpaid balance of $1938.19. The largest contribution to the campaign fund was one by Otto F. Stifel of $2000.

The statement of expenses shows three entries reading "John H. Flanigan, salary $200." This is "Fire Alarm" Flanigan, who followed Senator Stone around the State speaking at the same times and places as the Senator and broaching painful subjects, which Senator Stone had not purposed to discuss. The persecutions became so persistent and picturesque that Senator Stone during the latter part of the campaign, announced his speaking dates as short a time as possible ahead. The statement shows that the Fire Alarm operated at a monthly expense to the committee of $200.

LOCKED IN HOME, BURNED TO DEATH

Two Children Among Trio Killed in a Tenement Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Three lives were lost in New Brunswick, N. J., yesterday as a result of a fire which destroyed several tenements occupied by negroes.

Two children, Frank and Susie Doran, who had been locked in their home by their parents, were burned to death. It is believed they started the fire while playing with matches.

William Seng, a business man with interests in the vicinity where the fire occurred, ran to the scene and soon after died of heart disease, brought on by his exertion.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

RADWAY & CO.—

For the past two years I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia and constipation. After eating I would have a sensation of heaviness in the stomach, feel like vomiting, pain and dizziness in the head, and then I would become nervous. I tried everything that was recommended to me. I was almost in despair. At last a friend persuaded me to try "Radway's Pills," which I did. And I am glad to say that they not only relieved me, but positively cured me. Even after taking them only a few days a regularity of the bowels was established, and the dyspeptic symptoms disappeared. Now I feel like a new person.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts"

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late Gen. Roger Hanson, C. S. A. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with womanly ills, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have any womanly ills write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

NEW COUNTERFEIT $10 NOTE FOUND

Bankers and Business Houses Warned by Secret Service Department.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A new counterfeit $10 note, known as the Buffalo series, has been found in New York and the Secret Service has notified bankers and business houses to be on the lookout for it. It is of the series of 1901; check letter D; back plate number 162, and is signed by J. W. Lyons, Register of the Treasury, and Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States. It bears the portraits of Lewis and Clark.

The counterfeit is apparently a photo-lithographic production printed on two pieces of paper with silk fiber distributed between. The face of the note is grayish black. The numbering, seal and large Roman figure "X" are of good color and workmanship. The check letter and plate number do not appear in the lower right hand corner. The back of the note is a dark bluish green. By itself this counterfeit is apt to deceive, but when handled with genuine notes the marked difference in the color of the back should lead to its immediate detection.

Receiving Teller Hallett of the Corn Exchange National Bank of New York gave the Government the first information regarding the note.

MR. BUN LOST WIFE, SON, DAUGHTER AND FAITH IN MANKIND

His Star Boarder, Who Became Interested in Mrs. Bun on Learning That She Had Money of Her Own, Bought Dresses and Wine, Then Disappeared With Bun's Family.

MR. STEVE BUN has lost faith in mankind. Mrs. Bun, two young Buns, with the contents of the family treasury, have run away with the star boarder. About the only thing besides his personal belongings that Mr. Bun has left is a violent distrust in all other Buns in general and Mrs. Bun in particular.

Bewildered, almost stupefied by the blow, with his simple face just beginning to show the shadow of his first great sorrow, the desolate man is bewailing his fate in three deserted looking rooms at 2108 South Second street, where he has been the sole occupant since Monday night.

Mr. Bun is a foreigner of mixed or uncertain nationality. With his wife, son and daughter, 18 and 14 years old respectively, he came to this country half a year ago. With them he has been living in St. Louis for the last three months. But Joseph Braun, the star boarder, has been in America for four years. Therein lay his great chance to deceive Bun.

Braun's superior knowledge of American customs bewildered Bun and excited his admiration. It also led him to believe that several attentions that Braun showed to Mrs. Bun were perhaps part of the customs of this new country in which he found himself. His suspicions were slow in coming to him. And most of them came after Mrs. Bun had left.

Worked and Lived Together.

Braun met the family when they arrived in the United States and has been living with them since. At first he seemed to pay most of his attention to Bun himself. When they moved to St. Louis the two men obtained work in a manufacturing plant down on the river. When the family assembled in the kitchen at night the two men talked about their work. Braun lived in one room with young Bun, junior, and Mr. and Mrs. Bun and Jennie Bun lived in another. The kitchen was used for cooking, eating and social purposes.

But one night Mrs. Bun mentioned that she had a tidy sum of money of her own. Braun looked at Mrs. Bun for a long time. Bun, if he noticed the look, did not interpret it in any ominous way.

The next night Braun told Mrs. Bun he thought she was very good-looking. Mrs. Bun blushed. Bun, reading, didn't hear.

But a few nights later when the star boarder brought Mrs. Bun a new dress, Bun looked up inquiringly. But Braun bowed most grandly with an eloquent wave of his hand, as if it were just a part of the courtesy he owed to the family with whom he was staying. Bun smiled genially and had the uncomfortable feeling that he had done something rude in even feeling surprised when the presentation of the dress was made.

Wine for Madame Bun.

Then the star boarder began bringing wine and things to eat. These were all proffered to Madam Bun. Bun reasoned this out in a bemuddled sort of a way that in America all gifts are given to the madam in the family. But he began to wish he wasn't in America. He was getting nervous.

Then he began to notice that Braun used to talk as much with his wife as he had formerly done with himself. And one night when he looked up suddenly he saw them looking at each other as he had looked at Mrs. Bun and Mrs. Bun had looked at him in the days of their courtship. Bun was now suspicious.

The neighbors who lived in the same house had appreciated what was going on several days before Bun's suspicions began to rise. And when they saw Bun return home earlier than he was expected on several afternoons they understood that the little domestic play was coming to its climax.

The climax came Sunday night. Braun reached home just at twilight. He didn't mount the stairs to the second floor where the three rooms are. But Mrs. Bun came out on the courtyard second-floor porch and threw a bundle of clothes to him.

Braun then disappeared. An hour or so later Mrs. Bun and the two young Buns came softly downstairs and went away.

After Bun had gone to work Monday the wife, children and boarder returned. They entered the rooms, were evidently packing up in the hour they stayed, and then departed again, carrying a small trunk and several bundles.

Bun returned that night to find the contents of the rooms turned upside down. When curious neighbors went up to the rooms an hour later to see him they found Bun sitting in the center of a disordered room too stupefied apparently to eat.

His experience had aged him. Instead of the well preserved man of 55 or 60 they found a troubled looking old man who had the appearance of being at least ten years older.

Bun didn't say much. And mechanically he went about the rooms straightening things up. Then he went to the police and told his story. They and detectives are looking for his family and the ungrateful Braun.

It is thought that the party of four have left town and are on their way back to Europe. Meanwhile a little man whose trusting disposition has received such a shock that he will find it hard to believe anyone in the future, is at his shattered home perhaps the most miserable man in St. Louis today.

Mrs. Bun is about 40 years old and has a plump and pleasing personality.

FARMERS HURT IN STREET DUEL

Men Clash on Cape Girardeau Main Street Over Rental Price.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Nov. 14.—Jake Stahl Jr. was probably fatally stabbed and Giles Deevers was seriously wounded in a duel on crowded Main street yesterday. Both are prosperous farmers living near here and are said to have clashed over a disputed rental price of Stahl's pasture by Deevers.

They are said to have had several quarrels before and renewed the discussion when they met on Main street yesterday. When Deevers drew a long-bladed knife and thrust it at Stahl, the latter picked up a stone. They soon locked themselves together and rolled from the pavement into the gutter.

There bystanders separated them and took them to a physician's office. Stahl received deep gashes in the throat and left hip and thigh. The blade was stopped by the jaw bone and bent double. He also was stabbed on the right leg. Deevers' head was badly bruised by the stone.

RELIEF FUNDS OF FRISCO MISSING

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—A local newspaper says today:

An investigation is progressing in the course of developments in the local graft scandal. It now appears that many sums of money, large and small, that were sent from different states to San Francisco for the relief of the sufferers from the calamity never reached the Relief Committee. Some of these amounts which aggregate a large sum were mailed to the care of Mayor Schmitz, F. J. Heney, Detective William Burns and about 100 Government agents have been making an investigation.

President Roosevelt is the moving spirit behind the inquiry, and he declares that no man guilty of diverting the relief fund shall escape justice.

The cases came within the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities because of the interstate character of the postal service, which, it is alleged, was criminally tampered with.

A considerable sum of money was also sent through the ex ress companies, and Wells-Fargo, which companies are now investigating the disappearance of $10,550 sent in one package from the citizens of Searchlight, Nev., which the Relief Committee say they never received, and which the company says was delivered to the representative of the committee to which it was addressed.

Forgery is said to be included in the offenses of the alleged raiders of the relief contributions.

It is said that in the aggregate the stealings will amount to $1,000,000.

School Children Face Dangers

Work, Worry and Close Confinement—How They Can Be Safe-guarded.

To thousands of boys and girls the confinement in the schoolroom imposed by their studies is a very serious strain. Many become broken in health and are physically weakened for life.

If you give your boys and girls pure, healthful, strengthening food you go far toward removing all dangers. We recommend above all others Malta-Vita as especially beneficial to school children. It is a crisp, delicious, whole-wheat food containing every element necessary to the upbuilding of the body and brain.

"Malta-Vita" in its literal translation from the Latin means "Malt Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the winning point of Malta-Vita. On account of its large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, a natural sweetening agent, it is easily digestible, readily assimilated and the best food to form rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is not at all like the tasteless variety of flaked breakfast foods—the whole family welcomes its appearance on the table. Always ready to eat. On a cold morning try it with hot milk or cream. All grocers, 10 cents.

Bun returned that night to find the contents of the rooms turned upside down. When curious neighbors went up to the rooms an hour later to see him they found Bun sitting in the center of a disordered room too stupefied apparently to eat.

His experience had aged him. Instead of the well preserved man of 55 or 60 they found a troubled looking old man who had the appearance of being at least ten years older.

Bun didn't say much. And mechanically he went about the rooms straightening things up. Then he went to the police and told his story. They and detectives are looking for his family and the ungrateful Braun.

It is thought that the party of four have left town and are on their way back to Europe. Meanwhile a little man whose trusting disposition has received such a shock that he will find it hard to believe anyone in the future, is at his shattered home perhaps the most miserable man in St. Louis today.

Mrs. Bun is about 40 years old and has a plump and pleasing personality.

FARMERS HURT IN STREET DUEL

Men Clash on Cape Girardeau Main Street Over Rental Price.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Nov. 14.—Jake Stahl Jr. was probably fatally stabbed and Giles Deevers was seriously wounded in a duel on crowded Main street yesterday. Both are prosperous farmers living near here and are said to have clashed over a disputed rental price of Stahl's pasture by Deevers.

They are said to have had several quarrels before and renewed the discussion when they met on Main street yesterday. When Deevers drew a long-bladed knife and thrust it at Stahl, the latter picked up a stone. They soon locked themselves together and rolled from the pavement into the gutter.

There bystanders separated them and took them to a physician's office. Stahl received deep gashes in the throat and left hip and thigh. The blade was stopped by the jaw bone and bent double. He also was stabbed on the right leg. Deevers' head was badly bruised by the stone.

RELIEF FUNDS OF FRISCO MISSING

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—A local newspaper says today:

An investigation is progressing in the course of developments in the local graft scandal. It now appears that many sums of money, large and small, that were sent from different states to San Francisco for the relief of the sufferers from the calamity never reached the Relief Committee. Some of these amounts which aggregate a large sum were mailed to the care of Mayor Schmitz, F. J. Heney, Detective William Burns and about 100 Government agents have been making an investigation.

President Roosevelt is the moving spirit behind the inquiry, and he declares that no man guilty of diverting the relief fund shall escape justice.

The cases came within the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities because of the interstate character of the postal service, which, it is alleged, was criminally tampered with.

A considerable sum of money was also sent through the express companies, and Wells-Fargo, which companies are now investigating the disappearance of $10,580 sent in one package from the citizens of Searchlight, Nev., which the Relief Committee say they never received, and which the company says was delivered to the representative of the committee to which it was addressed.

Forgery is said to be included in the offenses of the alleged raiders of the relief contributions.

It is said that in the aggregate the steelings will amount to $1,000,000.

School Children Face Dangers

Work, Worry and Close Confinement—How They Can Be Safe-guarded.

To thousands of boys and girls the confinement in the schoolroom imposed by their studies is a very serious strain. Many become broken in health and are physically weakened for life.

If you give your boys and girls pure, healthful, strengthening food you go far toward removing all dangers. We recommend above all others Malta-Vita as especially beneficial to school children. It is a crisp, delicious, wholewheat food containing every element necessary to the upbuilding of the body and brain.

"Malta-Vita" in its literal translation from the Latin means "Malt Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the winning point of Malta-Vita. On account of its large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, a natural sweetening agent, it is easily digestible, readily assimilated and the best food to form rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is not at all like the tasteless variety of flaked breakfast foods—the whole family welcomes its appearance on the table. Always ready to eat. On a cold morning try it with hot milk or cream. All grocers, 10 cents.

FARMERS ORGANIZE BANKS.

Texas Unions Establishing State System of Institutions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 14.—Milton Park, a leader in the Texas Farmers' Union and in the national organization as well, announced today that a tangible movement is well uder way among the county and local unions of Texas to establish a system of banks to be conducted in connection with the system of warehouses now being established throughout the State.

Mr. Park says the question has been seriously discussed at several meetings of the Executive Committee that have been devoted to it. He believes that its maturity is not far off.

The scheme is to establish a farmers' union bank at every town in which a cotton warehouse is or shall be located. The plan is to conduct the banks after the order of the present national banks, although Mr. Park says it is not the intention to compete with national banks.

WEALTHY MEN ARE TOO BUSY FOR POLITICS

Prominent Citizens Are Unwilling to Enter House of Delegates.

THEY LIKE HOWE'S PLAN

Think Substantial Citizens Should Be Asked to Do City's Business.

WOERHEIDE IS WILLING

Ferriss, Rassieur, Teichmann and Pretorius Have No Time to Spare.

The day following the election Jeptha D. Howe, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, in an interview published in the Post-Dispatch, stated that a number of well-known business and professional men had consented to become candidates for the House of Delegates next spring. Among the men suggested by Howe were Judge Franklin Ferriss, Otto Teichmann, Edward L. Preetorius, Otto Stifel, A. A. B. Woerheide, Charles Nagel, Judge Leo Rassieur, John Gundlach and Al Shapleigh.

Honor to the Delegates.

Franklin Ferriss, former member of the City Council and chairman of the Advisory Committee of 200, which directed the recent Republican city campaign, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"If my professional duties permit and my party associates prefer me, I shall be glad to offer myself as a candidate for the House of Delegates next spring. Every citizen should look up to rather than down upon the Municipal Assembly.

"Business men consider it an honor to appear as directors in our large corporations. Should it not be equally an honor to participate as a director in the affairs of our city government?

"I should not care to be one of the minority in the House of Delegates. That is to say, I would be unwilling to become a candidate unless other prominent business and professional men were also to offer their services to the city. We need a new charter and additional legislation to make St. Louis a city of 1,000,000 population.

Time for Housecleaning.

"If the movement for a new House of Delegates is properly and persistently agitated I believe the best and most representative citizens of the community will heartily unite in coming to the front as candidates. The time is past when men with bad records or records of inexperience or incapability can be elected to office.

"I have spoken to quite a number of well-known business men of St. Louis on this subject recently and all of them seem to be of the opinion that the opportunity is at hand for cleaning up our municipal bodies and electing to represent us men of high character and undoubted ability. Surely there ought to be 25 St. Louisans intelligent enough, representative enough and patriotic enough to devote a half dozen hours a week to civic responsibilities.

"I am glad the Post-Dispatch has taken up this matter and I am sure if it is pushed earnestly and aggressively now the voters of St. Louis will establish a precedent over all the cities of the United States by electing a city assembly that shall be truly representative of St. Louis' best interests."

Woerheide Is Willing.

A. A. B. Woerheide, president of the Lincoln Trust and Title Co., said: "I have had several talks with Chairman Howe regarding the House of Delegates. I do not recall that I promised him definitely that I would run for that office. I may have said something that led him to believe that I would do so. Just now I am very busy, and I do not know whether I can find time to devote to the office. If my business affairs are in such shape that I can make the sacrifice, and the people of my ward want me, I shall be glad to become a member of the House of Delegates and do what I can to place that body on a higher plane of duty."

Judge Leo Rassieur said that Howe had no authority to use his name in connection with the proposed plan.

"I do not know what made him do it unless he wanted to make it appear that he was associated with men who sometimes try to do good," said Judge Rassieur.

"Howe never mentioned the subject to me, nor I to him. I believe that we need better men in the House of Delegates, and I would like to see good men run for the office. I cannot find the time to devote to the work. It is not because the place is one of ordinarily lowly honor that I decline to become a candidate, for it is an important office and an honorable one, if a man does his duty."

Teichmann Is Too Busy.

Otto Teichmann, former president of the Merchants' Exchange, now president of the Teichmann Commission Co., said that while he approved the idea and would urge good men to run for the House of Delegates, he could not spare the time from his business to hold the office himself. He said he would do all he could to get his business associates and friends interested in the movement.

Edward L. Preetorius said: "I shall do all I can as a Republican to advance the movementsfor a better House of Delegates. I cannot run myself, but I know many good men who have the time, and are willing, I believe, to devote it to the interests of the city by serving in the Municipal Assembly."

Otto Stifel, president of the Union Brewing Co.: "I am heartily in favor of Chairman Howe's suggestion that the Republican party select its candidate for the House of Delegates from men of the highest character and ability. I shall do all that is in my power to bring about this innovation at the spring election."

Charles Nagel, the lawyer, who was suggested by Howe, is absent from the city. Mr. Nagel once served in the City Council.

Al Shapleigh of the Norvell-Shapleigh Hardware Co. said that he had not considered the matter of becoming a candidate for the House of Delegates next spring and did not care to discuss it at this time.

CORONER LED CITY TICKET.

Official Returns Show Dr. Baron's Plurality Highest.

The official election returns, completed within a few hours less than one week after the polls closed, shows that, as was announced in the Post-Dispatch last Wednesday, Coroner Baron had the highest plurality of the successful Republican candidates. His plurality was 6,994. Victor H. Falkenhainer for Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, came next with 6,879. George H. Shields, who led the Republican judicial ticket, had a plurality of 6,383 over Judge Bishop, the highest Democratic candidate, while Hugo Muench's plurality over Bishop was 6,335.

The most notable change shown by camparison with the unofficial returns is the reduction of the plurality of Henry S. Caulfield, Congressman-elect in the Eleventh District, from 86 to 78. Harry M. Coudrey's plurality in the Twelfth District is increased from 738 to 830.

Patrick Clifford, for License Collector, held his Republican opponent, Louis Alt, down to the smallest plurality on the city ticket, 2,440. The plurality of Kennish, for Supreme Judge, was 7,201. The highest total vote cast was 92,314, for State Superintendent of Schools. The total registration was 135,389.

TRAINMEN REFUSE OFFER.

Ten Per Cent Increase Not Enough for Eastern Men.

Speria to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—Trainmen on the Pennsylvania refuse to accept the 10 per cent general increase in wages as satisfaction for their demands. Representatives of the Order of Railway Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen are in session here and waiting for a conference with the general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west.

C. E. Sawash, chairman of the general committee of the trainmen, said today: "The matter is now up to the general manager. We will positively not accept the general increase of 10 per cent as a settlement. We are holding out for our original demands."

GREEN OFFICER INSULTS CONSUL A GIRL ACCUSES

Enters Room Where Scrubwoman Makes Charge Against French Representative.

AFFAIR INTERNATIONAL

By Treaty of 1853 Home at Washington Is Immune From Invasion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A policeman now on the force and lacking knowledge of international law and a scrubwoman, young, rosy-cheeked and buxom, have involved the city of New York and the French Consulate-General in strange complications which were referred last week to Washington. Mayor McClellan has written an apology and suspended the officer.

Policeman John Anglin, 30 years old, and four months in the department, was not aware when Mrs. Mary Nunziata, age 19, complained to him that she had been affronted in the office of the Consul-General that the treaty of 1853 renders the French Consulate offices and dwelling not subject to invasion by local authorities, "under any pretext."

He went with the woman to the Consulate, where she, according to her story and that of the officer, pointed out Consul-General Alcide Ebray as the man who had offended her.

The alleged insult, Mrs. Nunziata said today, was offered on the afternoon of Saturday, Nov. 3. She said she was cleaning one of the four offices when she became aware that a man she had seen only once before was present, and that he locked the door and put the key in his pocket. She declared that she was held prisoner about five minutes, against her protest, and that the Consul-General grabbed her hand when she tried to snatch the door key from him. After the door was unlocked the young scrubwoman went directly to Michael Russell, in charge of the building, and complained that she had been insulted.

Policeman Denies Charge.

When Policeman Anglin went with her to the Consulate, expecting, he said, to make an arrest, Vice-Consul Maurice Hellmann telephoned to Maurice Leon, counsel to the Consul-General, and this lawyer came at once to the office. Mr. Leon asserts that while M. Hellmann was telephoning to him the policeman whispered a suggestion for a settlement. This the policeman denies.

According to Mr. Leon, the woman told him "that the Consul-General was in his room, and that although the entrance door of the Consulate had been open up to that time, the Consul-General had locked it after a visitor had called and left, and that in order to leave the Consulate she had been compelled to ask the Consul-General for the key. She admitted that the Consul-General had given her the key readily and that he had not maltreated her in any way whatever, but she asserted that his locking the entrance door satisfied her that he had evil intentions.

"I then stated to the woman that on Saturdays the Consulate is closed at 1 o'clock, and that it is customary to lock the door at that time, but the woman remained steadfast to her atittude and insisted that she had been 'insulted.'

"Then the officer turned to me and in a confidential tone informed me that if the woman pressed her complaint there would be 'a lot of notorlety.' This satisfied me as to the purpose of the visit of the officer and the woman.

Consul-General Ebray came to this post a year ago last July. He was foreign editor of the Journal des Debats and a well-known French writer on economic subjects. He lives at the Calumet Club, in Fifth avenue.

To Discuss Employes' Demands.

Special to the Post-Dispatch

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 14.—An important meeting will be held here next Saturday by representatives of nearly all the Western trunk lines. The claims of railroad employes made so generally from the Pacific to the Atlantic will be discussed, and it is likely that concerted action will be taken looking to a uniform scale for all classes of railroad men. Speaking of the meeting, President E. P. Ripley of the Atchison, Tokepa & Santa Fe, said today:

"There will be some increases in wages in all transcontinental railroads, but the various unions will not get all they ask for. I cannot state now just what departments are likely to receive increased pay or how much, but the railroads will grant something."

PREACHER'S WIFE FINED.

Accused of Taking Silk Hosiery From Store.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Josephine McAmis, who says she is the wife of Rev. F. L. McAmis, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Hebron, Ill., was in the Harrison Street Police Court today accused of shoplifting. The minister's wife fell a victim to the lure of silk hosiery.

"I did not know what I was doing, your honor," the woman said, in a scarcely audible voice. "I was unconscious when I took the goods. I must have been out of my mind at the time? I believe I was crazy. I did not need silk hosiery."

"I'll fine you $10. Go home to the church and keep away from silk stockings," said Justice Connoly.

OUR PIANO OFFERS NEVER EQUALED ELSEWHERE

Go where you will—visit every store in St. Louis—we want you to do this—then come to our store, and you'll find that our piano offers are not equaled anywhere.

THERE IS A REASON

In the first place, we sell more pianos than any two stores in St. Louis. Our plan is to make a very small margin on each individual sale and depend on the large volume of business to make a reasonable business margin on the capital invested. Stores that sell half as many pianos as we do must and do get twice the profit on each individual sale. This is not fiction or fancy, but facts, cold, bare facts.

HOLIDAY SEASON SOON HERE

Christmas and the holiday season will soon be here. If you haven't a piano in the home and are going to get one within the year, we know you'll want to get it now, and we want you to come in and let us explain how easy it will be for you to get a piano on

HER PICTURE IN DEAD MAN'S HAND

SHE WAS RECENTLY WED

Portrait That of Violet Bellairs, Daughter of Fair Superintendent.

A photograph of Miss Violet Bellairs of St. Louis, with her stage name, Viola Lansing, written on the back, was found in the hand of a young man who shot and killed himself in Central Park, New York City. Whether the presence of the picture was accidental or was due to an acquaintance, there was nothing to indicate.

Miss Bellairs was the daughter of the late Capt. C. W. Bellairs, who was superintendent of the old Fair Grounds in the most prosperous days of the St. Louis Fair. She was born in India. She went on the stage several seasons ago, and within the past two weeks St. Louis acquaintances were informed that she had been married to Joseph Stiner, a New York business man.

Dispatches from New York say she had been living recently at the Gerard, a hotel in the Broadway theatrical district.

The picture of Viola Lansing, an actress who is in private life Miss Bellairs of St. Louis, was found in the hand of a young man who shot and killed himself in Central Park, New York City.

Dispatches from New York say that Miss Lansing has been living at the Grand, a hotel in the Broadway theatrical district.

St. Louis relatives have known little of Miss Bellairs since her departure from St. Louis, following her marriage to a man by the name of Stiner.

She recently left one of Charles Dillingham's companies, and is said to be on the road with another production.

Besides the photograph there was nothing to indicate the young man's identity. He appeared not more than 21 years old, wore old clothes and had no overcoat, though the weather was such as to require one. His pockets contained 5 cents, a card case and a few cigarettes.

On the back of the photograph, which was in his left hand, was written, "Viola Lansing, 1904."

Miss Bellairs was the daughter of Capt. Bellairs, superintendent of the old Fair Grounds in the most prosperous days of the St. Louis Fair.

SERVANT GIRL REFUSED WORK

Long Hours of Duty and No Time Off Made It Look Like Jail Sentence.

A resident of a fashionable thoroughfare in the West End will not hire a servant girl who has "steady company." She always makes this inquiry when an applicant asks for work. She also insists that the girl must agree not to entertain her friends in the kitchen and must be in bed at an early hour each night.

A recent applicant for a position in this woman's household listened to all the conditions and requirements and then refused the place. "I am sure I would not suit," she said as she bowed herself out.

The young woman had learned all that she needed to know without doing a hard day's work for an employer who might be ungrateful and might say harsh things when she announced her intention of quitting without warning as she intended to do.

The young woman was a reporter for the Post-Dispatch and was seeking information on the "Servant Girl Question." She declares that to have accepted the job offered her under the conditions recited above would have been much like getting a Jail sentence. A full story of her experiences as a servant will be told in the Post-Dispatch next Sunday.

TO TEST CEMENT.

Special City Committee Will Prescribe Standard.

A special committee, to be known as the Cement Committee, was provided for at the last meeting of the Board of Public Improvements. The committee is to devise a series of tests to which all cement used on public work in St. Louis must respond. The committee will specify the amount of torsion, tension and compression which the cement, after a certain interval of hardening, must be able to stand.

"Cement is becoming more and more the modern building material," said President O'Reilly, at whose suggestion the committee was named. "It is used on streets and sidewalks, in buildings, for settling basins, valve boxes and sewers. St. Louis has a cement testing laboratory on King's highway and the Eager road, but the standard to which cement must conform has never been fixed in St. Louis. The special committee is to do this work."

The committee is made up of President O'Reilly, Sewer Commissioner Fardwell, Water Commissioner Adkins and Street Commissioner Valliant.

"23 FOR THIEVES."

Indictment Bearing Number Sends Three Men to Prison.

The baleful influence of the hoodoo number, 23, was felt Tuesday, the 13th day of the month, by John Webb, tried in the criminal division of the Circuit Court on a charge of grand larceny. The indictment charging him with grand larceny was No. 23, and in the language of the slangologist, when the jury returned a verdict it was "23 for him." He was sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary.

The same indictment proved unlucky for William Clifford, who was sentenced to the same number of years for the same offense the day previous. Edward Marcus was to have been tried Wednesday on the same charge, but pleaded guilty and received the same sentence. The indictment charges these three men with having stolen $117.50 from Edward Neumann of 1718 North Tenth street several weeks ago when Neumann was with the men in their room at 909 Madison street.

GAS KILLED POULTRY MAN.

Bank Books Found in Pocket of Sturgeon Resident.

From dispatches from Sturgeon, Mo., it is believed that the identity of the man found asphyxiated in the Hoeffner Hotel, Twelfth street and Clark avenue, has been established as Len Harris of that place. Harris was 35 years old, unmarried and was connected with the Moberly branch of the Swift Packing Co., for which he traveled East with poultry shipments every two weeks. So far as is known there was no motive for suicide. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, who live in Sturgeon.

The hotel room in which the man was found was engaged Monday night. An odor of gas came from the room in the morning. When the door was forced the man was found dead on the bed with the gas jet open. Bank books of the Citizens' Bank of Sturgeon, and Mechanics' Bank of Moberly which showed deposits of $444, were found; also a letter signed Charles Harris of Sturgeon.

NO BOER BATTLE.

Fake Stories From Capetown to Affect Stock Market.

CHAUFFEURS STONE CAB.

Secretary of Transportation Company Injured by Strikers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—An electric cab in which William H. Palmer, secretary of the New York Transportation Co., whose chauffeurs are on strike, was riding through Forty-ninth street, near Sixtieth avenue, at 1 o'clock this morning, was bombarded with bricks and stones by a gang of striking chauffeurs.

The cab was smashed and Mr. Palmer was bruised about the body.

GASCONADE SURVIVOR DIES.

Dr. Specht Cared for Injured in Famous Wreck.

Dr. Francis George J. Specht, who died at his home, 1718 Preston place, of heart disease, was widely known in St. Louis. From 1870 until 1898 he was business manager of the Anzeiger des Westens.

Dr. Specht was born in Karlsruhe, Germany and came to America when he was 17 years old. He was a graduate of the old Pope's Medical College at Eighth and Poplar streets. He was a survivor of the celebrated Gasconade Bridge disaster. At the request of his brother-in-law, Carl Danzer, founder of the Westliche Post, who died recently, he accompanied the excursion to report it for that paper.

When the bridge gave way Dr. Specht was on a platform and escaped. He became so occupied giving aid to the injured that he forgot to send a report of the accident to his paper.

His death was caused by heart disease. He is survived by a widow, five sons and two daughters.

PROOF WITH YOUR REGALS!

When you buy your Regals this year you get signed proof with them. The best anybody else can give you is talk.

You know shoe materials have increased 52% in cost. But if you want to be certain that you're not buying pasteboard instead of leather, cheap hemlock instead of Oak-Bark-tanned soles, and disappointment instead of satisfaction—you'll insist on proof, as a matter of business.

But proof goes only with Regals. The Specifications tag is our signed affidavit of the honesty of materials and make-up of that particular pair of Regals that you are buying.

And you get it before you buy.

REPUTED CHIEF OF BLACK HAND SHOT BY YOUTH

Intended Victim Rids New York's Little Italy of Much Feared Leader.

REFUSED $500 DEMANDED

Fires on Alleged Bandit as He Starts to Draw a Revolver.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—With his hand on a half-cocked revolver, ready to enforce a demand for $500 made weeks ago, Munziato Legato, known in Little Italy as chief of the Black Hand, was shot and killed at Grand and Mott streets. Enrico Pavone, his intended victim, a clean-cut, well-educated Calabrian, did the killing. He had purchased a revolver a week ago, when he was warned he would be "sent to Brooklyn" unless he paid tribute to the Black Hand. The message "sent to Brooklyn" has a somber significance in the Italian quarter. All of the Italian cemeteries, which the Black Hand has helped to populate from time to time, are located there.

Pavone is a stenographer and for years worked in the offices of the Italian newspapers. He saved every penny he could scrape together, and recently bought a half interest in a saloon, in front of which the Black Hand chieftain met his death. Pavone has saved $500 out of the saloon's earnings and meant to send the money to Italy to bring his young wife and old mother to this country. News of his $500 savings reached the Black Hand.

Wanted Detained Woman.

A few weeks ago Legato, a man of 50 odd years, went to Pavone and told him to go to Ellis Island and make oath before the immigration authorities that a woman detained there was his wife. Pavone refused to perjure himself, particularly as he heard for what purposes the woman was destined.

His friends warned him he committed a grave error in refusing to obey the orders of Legato, who was feared throughout the quarter. His reputation was black. He came from Regio, the Italian town which produced the famous bandit Musseline, and moreover, it was stated he was a fugitive from Italian justice, that he had twice played the part of assassin.

A week after he had disobeyed Legato's order, word came to Pavone that unless he paid $500 he would be "sent to "Brooklyn." That same day Pavone bought a revolver. He carried it in the side pocket of his coat all day, and at night placed it beneath his pillow.

Three days ago he met Legato in the street. Legato called him into a doorway and drawing a large blue-steel revolver, said:

"Do you see this, Pavone? I am coming to you Monday morning. Have the money ready."

Legato Enters Saloon.

Monday passed without bringing the Black Hand leader, and Pavone thought the threat an empty one. Tuesday he put his revolver in a drawer behind the bar of his saloon. He had scarcely done so when Legato entered and stood in front of the bar. Very politely he asked Pavone to step outside. Pavone waited to serve some customers and to quietly slip the revolver back into his coat pocket. Then he went out with Legato.

On the sidewalk the Black Hand man sternly asked for the $500. Pavone showed him $25 in small bills, intending to appease him if possible, with that amount. Legato scornfully thrust aside the money, saying:

"I am going to show you I am a man of my word."

Pavone had been watching him like a cat with his hand always on his revolver, and the instant Legato's hand moved toward his pocket he drew his own weapon and fired two shots. Both tore holes in the abdomen of Legato. He swerved all over the street, knocking over pushcarts, spilling vegetables and fruit, finally falling dead in a heap between the car tracks.

Slayer Is Caught.

The persons on the crowded street were panic-stricken and Pavone darted away, but was caught at Mulberry and Hester streets by Policeman Wilson and locked up at headquarters. Later he was taken before Coroner Acritelli and remanded to the Tombs without bail. Men of good reputation in the Italian quarter whom he kept advised throughout his dealings with Legato, corroborated his story. To the Coroner he said: "If I had not shot first Legato would have killed me. I only saved my own life."

The police found a half-cocked, loaded revolver in Legato's pocket, also several loose cartridges. Legato was known to the police. He was arrested recently in connection with a pistol duel in Mulberry street, but was released for lack of evidence. Legato's comrades are expected to wreak vengeance on Pavone should he be released.

The Martha Parsons Free Hospital for Children, Channing avenue and School street, has opened a new addition donated by one of the managers. This addition and the hospital will be open for visitors and friends on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 18 and 19, from 2 to 5 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

SCHOOL SITE BY FORCE.

Board of Education Plans to Condemn Propetry.

For the first time the Board of Education has found it necessary to institute condemnation proceedings to obtain property for school purposes. The board, at its meeting Tuesday night, authorized Attorney F. N. Judson to begin condemnation proceedings in the Circuit Court to acquire the property adjacent to the Wheatley School at Boyle avenue and Papin street.

According to the secretary of the board, repeated attempts to buy property have failed, the owner insisting on a stipulation that the property should not be used for a negro school. The property has a frontage of 112 feet on Papin street. The neighborhood is occupied by negroes.

The board will again consider the plans for the proposed Shaw School following Dr. William Taussig's objection to architectural decoration of the buildings with towers, as at the McKinley and Yeatman high schools. Dr. Taussig thought them of no benefit and a useless expense.

THE GREAT HOUSEHOLD REMEDY

CURES RHEUMATISM

NEURALGIA, KIDNEY TROUBLE, LA GRIPPE, COLDS

Catarrh, Asthma, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Nervousness, Backache, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervous and Neuralgic Headache, Heart Weakness, Paralysis, Creeping Numbness, Sleeplessness, Eczema, Scrofula and all Blood Diseases.

Swanson's "5-DROPS" cures Rheumatism in any of its forms or stages of development. Applied externally it affords instant relief from pain. Taken internally it rids the blood, tissues and joints of the uric acid and other poisonous matter which are the cause of the disease. It never fails to cure Rheumatism, Sciatica or Lumbago. It has effected more cures of the above named ailments than all other remedies combined. It has never failed to cure the most obstinate case. Neuralgic pains cease at once when "5-DROPS" is used. Nothing else ever discovered will afford such early relief or effect a cure so quickly. In neuralgia the nerves are inflamed, they throb and shoot from congestion and arrested circulation. "5-DROPS," hastens circulation, quiets the nerves and the pain stops.

Kidney Trouble, that most dangerous and painful disease can be cured by this remedy. It acts on the blood; purifying it and at the same time cleansing the Kidneys of all impurities. It removes the poison from the system and restores the kidneys and liver to their normal condition.

"5-DROPS" cures La Grippe by destroying at once the germs which cause that disease. No other remedy acts so effectively or gives such instant relief to the sufferer. If "5-DROPS" is used disease cannot possibly exist. It not only cures this awful malady, but quickly builds up the entire system, fortifying it against the after consequences of this terrible disease. For the cure of Coughs, Colds and all Bronchial Troubles it is the best remedy that can be used. If taken at bedtime and in the morning before breakfast, it will relieve and cure the most severe cough. It will break up a cold quicker than any other medicine.

READ THESE LETTERS FROM PEOPLE WHO WERE CURED BY THE USE OF "5-DROPS."

ROBERT W. McBRIDE, No. 3225 Boyd St., Omaha, Neb., writes:—"After suffering with Rheumatism for eight years, and getting very little relief, I commenced taking "5-DROPS." I saw it advertised and grasped at it as a drowning man grasps at a straw. I was completely broken down and could scarcely lift my feet to walk. My Liver and Kidneys were in fearful shape. I thought I would never be well again; but immediately after I commenced taking your remedy I began to improve, and I am happy to say that I am now a new man, full of health and vigor. One bottle of "5-DROPS" has done the work for me, and I have told everyone that I know, who has Rheumatism, about my wonderful cure."

FRANCES CISCO, Pinckneyville, Ky., writes:—"Your "5-DROPS" has been the means of saving me from the grave. Thanks to this remedy. I now enjoy health as I never did before in seventeen years. I feel like life is worth the living because I am well. I suffered untold agony for six years. Had Rheumatism, Throat and Heart Trouble nearly all of the time. SWANSON'S "5-DROPS" has cured me, and I have only taken one and one-half bottles."

SUSAN B. HOPKINS, Greenwood, Va., writes:—"My son had a bad cough for several months and was threatened with Bronchitis. I gave him your "5-DROPS," as directed, and in one week his cough was cured and there is no sign of a return."

MRS. A. M. WHITTINGTON, Gloster, Miss., writes:—"I have received "5-DROPS" and have been taking it. Have been greatly benefited by it. My little daughter was taken very sick with LaGrippe and had a very high fever. I gave her "5-DROPS" and rubbed her Spine with the remedy and the fever left her and she is well again."

DUMONT SAYS FLYING WILL BE COMMON SOON

Declares Aeroplanes of Increased Power Will Replace Automobiles.

SIZE CAN BE REDUCED

Machines That Can Be Kept Indoors Will Be Invented, He Says.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Santos-Dumont, since the successful flight of his aeroplane, "The Bird of Prey," talks enthusiastically of the early approach of the day when all mankind will be navigating the air and when flying machines will be more common than automobiles. He thinks that the flying machine will eventually become the "poor man's" automobile, be safer, faster and cheaper. In an interview today he said:

"The machine I am experimenting with is very large, having a surface of 80 square meters, but the practical aeroplane, which will be for the air what the democratic bicycle is for the earth, will be much smaller. With ordinary flying machines, it is necessary to increase the size in order to increase the power.

"With the aeroplane, on the contrary, speed will be increased in direct proportion to the diminution of the resistance surface. My present aeroplane was intentionally built large to overcome main obstacles as to principles. But with increased power, which means speed, the size can be reduced.

Speed Adds Safety.

"At the same time increased speed adds to the safety, as a powerful motor is more easily manipulated. We can, therefore, look forward to a practical aeroplane which can be comfortably housed in every home.

"From the standpoint of maintenance, the cost both of petroleum and repairs, the aeroplane will be much less expensive than the automobile car. There will be no expensive tires to burst and no bad roads to jolt them to pieces. There will be no collisions. Next year people will be able to go to the seashore on their aeroplanes. It will become the fad and the commencement of a new industry."

"What of the danger?"

"The only danger would be the risk of a broken rudder and I cannot see that a rudder could break itself. The aeroplane is immobility itself. The swerving which made me descend on Oct. 23 can be easily rectified by a second rudder to counteract any tendency in that direction.

How to Guide Ship.

"The practical difficulty, while the matter remains in the experimental stage, would, of course, be how to control the supplementary rudders while the hands are otherwise engaged. My intention is to attach the yoke ropes to my neck and maintain the equilibrium by the instinctive movement of the head. Later this primitive arrangement will be replaced by an automatic apparatus.

"When the automobile was first introduced the man-in-the-street treated those who had the temerity to operate them as madmen, never anticipating the day when fashionable thoroughfares of every big city would be crowded with automobiles filled with nurses and newly born children. Men will drive aeroplanes as they now drive automobiles. There will be a short apprenticeship, but what can be done on terra firma, in brief, the day is not far distant when the aeroplane, as a means of locomotion, will replace in the air the bicycle on the earth."

The Swiftest Battleships in the World

Are Now Being Built in the British Navy

Their speed will be from 25 to 27 knots an hour—or 9 knots greater than any battleship in the German, French or American fleet.

They will be propelled by Parson's turbines and have greater offensive power than any two battleships now in commission in any of the world's fleets.

They should be launched at an early date.

TROLLEY CONDUCTOR WHO WAS ROBBED BY TWO ARMED MEN

M. H. MARSDEN.

TWO ARMED MEN ROB CONDUCTOR,

He Protested at Loss of Watch and Timepiece Was Returned to Him.

While one man held two revolvers within an inch of his nose, Conductor M. H. Marsden of the Broadway trolley line stood with hands upraised near the northern terminus of the road at 11:40 p. m., Tuesday, and another man searched his clothes and robbed him.

The man who was doing the searching speedily stripped the change holder from Marsden, then with nervous fingers removed a long wallet from an inside coat pocket in which Marsden kept his bills. The searcher took the bills from the wallet, replaced it in Marsden's pocket and dived his hands into the conductor's hip pockets, where he found nothing. He skipped the front pockets of the trousers in which Marsden had $11 in silver and then removed a gold watch from the vest. Marsden had received the injunction to keep his mouth shut, but the loss of his watch made him reckless.

"Now that's what I call lowdown! Rob me, get all my money and then take my watch."

The man with the pistols shifted.

"Give the man his watch back, Joe," he said. "We have no use for a watch anyhow."

The searcher returned the watch to Marsden's vest pocket and turning, the two fled through a vacant lot.

The robbery took place at Walter avenue and Marsden was in the street shifting the trolley when he received the command to hold up his hands and keep quiet.

Robbery Was Done Quietly.

Although the car was in darkness the motorman, J. H. Sutton, and a passenger, Roy Davis, were on the front platform. Twenty feet away stood a Broadway owl car and in it Motorman Godding and Conductor Mays were eating their lunch, ignorant of the robbery.

At that point the cars usually turn a loop, but they are now using a "Y" and company rules require that the trolley be shifted twice in turning about. Marsden had switched it the first time when the two figures emerged from a clump of bushes at the side of the road. While the robbery was going on a car passed within ten feet on the main line, but the aimed revolvers kept Marsden from calling out.

After the men disappeared Marsden ran to the Baden Substation and notified the police of the robbery. With Motorman Sutton and the crew of the owl car the police sought to trail the robbers unsuccessfully.

Marsden lost a little more than $23, most of which was company money. He is doubtful whether or not he would be able to identify the two except for the voice of tht man who held the pistols. Both were dressed in dark clothes with slouch hats drawn over their faces. Both were smooth faced and Marsden declares that neither could have been more than 21 years old.

TAKES $50 FOR HIS LITTLE FINGER

A new rail, insecurely spiked, is believed to have been the cause of a wreck on the Missouri Pacific at Glencoe, 27 miles west of St. Louis, Tuesday. Eight persons were slightly injured. The train was the Denver and San Francisco express No. 1. An express car, mail car, smoker, two chair cars and the engine overturned in soft ground beside the tracks. Two Pullman cars remained standing.

When Engineer Pace felt the tender leave the track he put on the air brakes and brought the train slowly to a stop after it had run 150 feet over the ties.

W. E. Fricke of Sumpter, Ore., had a little finger so severely crushed that it was necessary to amputate it. Dispatches from Sedulia say that he accepted $50 for his claim against the railroad.

FOLK'S CHANCE FOR PRESIDENCY BEATS BRYAN'S

And Hearst Is Nowhere in Comparison, Declares Frank Walsh.

"LID" ISSUE A WINNER

Democrats Lost in Jackson County Through Courthouse Complication.

Unless political sentiment throughout the country should undergo a radical change within a year, Gov. Folk is certain to capture the Democratic nomination for President, according to Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, leader of the Folk forces in Western Missouri.

Walsh believes that Bryan and Hearst are out of the running and that Folk is the only man on whom the conservative and radical wings of the party can unite to insure the election of a Democratic President.

"Gov. Folk has demonstrated his capacity as a capable leader and a successful executive," said Walsh to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Wednesday.

"If he had been a failure as either, he would have met with crushing defeat at the hands of the old Democratic machine crowd.

"My judgment that he will be the logical candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination is not based on local conditions.

"Everywhere, but particularly in the East, Folk is looming up as the biggest and most valuable man in his party.

Bryan Dimmed, Exit Hearst.

"Bryan's chances of getting the nomination have been weakened and, as I see it, practically nullified by his ideas on the subject of Government ownership of railroads.

"The fact that Hearst was defeated in New York and that his associates on the Democratic ticket were victorious dismisses him from the list of presidential possibilities.

"I have heard some talk in the East of David R. Francis, but the echo of his candidacy is not heard far beyond Wall street.

"The Democrats carried Missouri this time, not because Stone and Lockerey and the other leaders of the old machine worked for the ticket, but in spite of them.

"Gov. Folk is the one who stirred up the enthusiasm that brought the Missouri Democracy out of the brush. If he had depended on the Stone-Lockerey combination, I am afraid the Democratic party in this State would have been led to another disastrous defeat."

Mr. Walsh was asked if the defeat of the Democratic ticket in Jackson County was due to the "lid."

"Wherever the lid was the issue in the recent election," answered Walsh, "the Democrats won."

"In Jackson County the Democratic ticket was defeated because of an unpopular bond issue there. About ten days before the election the people voted $250,000 for a new Courthouse for Jackson County.

"The farmers of Jackson County, outside of Kansas City opposed the bond issue. The Republican candidates for County Court Judges told the farmers that they would not vote the bonds if elected. As the Democratic strongholds are outside of Kansas City, the Republican ticket naturally won many votes on this issue. The result was the defeat of our ticket by a narrow majority.

"Lid" Supporter Won.

"In the race for State Senator, A. L. Cooper, Democratic candidate, declared himself in favor of the Sunday closing law and announced his unequivocal approval of the policies of Gov. Folk's administration.

"His Republican opponent, Frank Peck, took a stand against Folk and law enforcement. The saloon keepers and brewers lined up on the side of Peck.

"The district was overwhelmingly Republican, and the best we expected to do was to reduce the Republican majority. But to our surprise, the Democratic candidate swept the district by a majority of 2000. That shows what the people of Kansas City think about the lid.

"I am not surprised that St. Louis went Republican in view of the action of the Democratic convention here in hissing the name of Folk.

"Of course we know how jealous some of the Democratic leaders are of Gov. Folk. Nearly any one of them claims that he made Folk. The fact of the matter is that Folk made himself. Harry Hawes, Rolla Wells, Joe Whyte and others to the contrary notwithstanding.

"It will be a bitter pill for these gentlemen and their allies out in the State to swallow Folk as a presidential candidate.

"But the sooner they get in the band wagon the better they will like the music. Folk is the complete master of the Democratic situation in Missouri."

SAYS ROOSEVELT ISN'T A JOLLIER

Eletrician on Louisiana Writes of How President Spends Time on Ship.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14.—Before the sailing of the battleship Louisiana, on which President Roosevelt is making the voyage to Panama, Walter F. Whitehead of Cleveland, assistant electrician on the battleship, dispatched a letter to his family here, in which he described how Mr. Roosevelt had already made himself highly popular on board, how he was making a thorough investigation of the vessel and how he even meant to shovel coal. In the course of his letter Whitehead says:

"The President is aboard. We expect to leave for Panama this afternoon. We are having trouble with our port engine and have to run on half time, about eight knots an hour, at which rate it will be a six days' run to Panama from Hampton Roads.

"The President is going to eat his next meal with the crew. He is now going down in one of the firerooms to shovel coal for a while. He likes to do a little of everything. He is bound to find out everything for himself. It does not take him long to find out things.

"If you would see him you would like him. He is not a jollier, but an everyday man. He does not leave it to head officers; he goes right among the men and he certainly likes boys, but seems to be a man who can be stern when he likes.

"Mrs. Roosevelt does not seem to be an aristocratic lady, but a motherly woman. Expect to be back in the States again before Christmas, as New York is our repair station, and I then expect to go home. Write me just the same, as the letters follow the boat. Don't worry, as you can hear us most every day, as we have wireless telegraphy on board.

"You see, we are now the White House, or executive headquarters. It will be the first time that the United States has been governed from a foreign country. Will write more when I have seen more of the President. If he runs again, he certainly has made friends here."

Whitehead is the son of W. J. Whitehead of 1446 East Eighty-sixth street, and is the third of a family of 11 sons and four daughters. He has been aboard the Louisiana two years.

ROOSEVELT ANSWERS SHIP BY WIRELESS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The officers and crew of the Steamer Advance, which arrived today from Colon, exchanged a wireless message with President Roosevelt during the voyage. When the Advance met the battleship Louisiana, and her escorts, the Tennessee and the Columbus, the following wireless message was sent to the President:

"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, U. S. S. Louisiana. The captain and men of the Steamship Advance send greetings, wish you and Mrs. Roosevelt a most pleasant voyage, and congratulate you on result of New York State Election."

President Roosevelt's reply was as follows:

"Capt. Hammond, and men of the Steamer Advance: Heartiest thanks for your congratulations on both counts., Theodore Roosevelt."

LAUGHED AT FIRST

But Changed His Mind on Investigation.

It often seems ridiculous what a simple thing can do in shaping our lives.

We do certain things because our fathers before us did, and don't stop to think that we might be better for a change.

A man tells how he changed from coffee to Postum Food Coffee and the remarkable difference it made in him.

"I have been a heavy coffee-drinker for years, got very nervous and my mind seemed dazed. I would go to work every morning with an unsteady hand, and actually endanger my life, as I am a building mechanic.

"I had read of the results that occurred by changing from coffee to Postum, but I was in such a condition mentally and physically that I never thought of it for myself. But I kept growing worse every day until I was advised to try Postum.

"I laughed at first, but finally tried it, and to my great surprise, I was dead sure I had at last found the real trouble and how to get rid of it.

"While using coffee, among all the other ails I was also troubled with sour stomach and gas, but thanks to Postum and the friend who advised me to use it, my stomach can now stand almost any kind of food. The whole change is a wonder to me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

GRIEF MADE GIRL TRY TO END LIFE

Petranella Romeiser Leaped From Window While Brother Lay Dead.

HE HAD DIED SUDDENLY

Sister Tried to Save Her, but Was Unable to Retain Hold on Foot.

While the funeral of Roland Romeiser, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Romeiser, was taking place Wednesday morning from the family residence, on Abend street, Belleville, Miss Petranella Romeiser, 22 years old, sister of the youth, lay unconscious, at the point of death, at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, from injuries received when, frantic with grief over her brother's death, she hurled herself through a third-story window to the ground.

The double calamity followed hard upon the joyfulness o fa family celebration of the birthday of the father of the youth and his sister.

Miss Romeiser made the desperate attempt to destroy herself shortly after noon Tuesday. It was feared that her despondency would cause her to try to harm herself and a close watch was kept on her. Her sister, Emma, two years older than she, was following her when she leaped through the window. Emma caught her sister's foot as her body plunged downward, but was unable to retain the hold.

The girl was very fond of her brother, Roland. He was a precocious lad, very proficient in music and the languages and was the favorite of the family. He contributed most to the enjoyment of the celebration of his father's birthday Sunday. The family sat up later than usual. Roland played much on the piano during the evening and his sisters sang.

Brother Died Suddenly.

It was 11:30 when he and his younger brother, Alwin, went to their room on the second floor. Three-quarters of an hour later their father, passing their room, heard a groan and went in. Roland was in distress. He died about the time that Dr. Bechtold arrived. His death was due to heart trouble.

Petranella was plunged into the deepest melancholy by the sudden death of her brother. She said many times that she wished she had died in his place and threatened to kill herself.

Her sister, Emma, kept a constant watch upon her Monday and did not permit Petranella out of her sight for a moment. She and her sister occupied the same room Monday night and Emma pretended to sleep, but she spent a wakeful night, fearing that if she permitted herself to slumber her sister would harm herself.

To divert the mind of Petranella she was prevailed upon Tuesday forenoon to accept an invitation to dinner at the home of a neighbor. She went to the neighbor's house, but just before dinner excused herself and returned home and ate with the family.

Ran From Her Sister.

During the meal she said she had left her handkerchief in her room and arose to go for it. Emma followed her. She ran rapidly up the stairs and her sister had difficulty in keeping near her.

Passing the door of her room she ran as fast as she could up the stairway to the third floor. Emma ran after her, but Petranella increased the distance between them.

Reaching a room on the third floor Petranella rushed toward two windows, set close together, near the east end of the north wall of the residence. The windows were closed and Emma counted on being able to catch her sister before she could raise a sash, but Petranella, with a scream, hurled herself against the lower sash of the west window.

As her body crashed through it she screamed again. Emma made a frantic attempt to catch her, but only succeeded in getting hold of one of her feet, and the weight of her body immediately broke the hold.

As the body of Petranella plunged downward it struck the branches of a tree and bounded outward from the house and fell on the lawn, about ten feet from the foundation.

The screams of Petranella and the crash and the screaming of Emma brought the members of the family and neighbors. They found Petranella lying huddled on the ground. She was unconscious. Blood was flowing from several scalp wounds. Her father and her brother, Edwin, were the first to reach her. Edwin picked her up and carried her into the house. Drs. Bachtold and Portuondo were soon there. They found that she had a compound fracture of the left arm and probably a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Unconscious at Hospital.

Continued unconsciousness strengthens the supposition that her skull is fractured. An operation will be performed during the day.

The young woman was taken to the hospital Tuesday night. The funeral of her brother took place at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday from the residence. The services were conducted by Rev. William Weber, who had ben the lady's tutor in the languages since he graduated last June from the Belleville High School. A double quartet of the Liederkranz sang. The youth had not been a member of the society, but he had appeared at their concerts.

The body, accompanied by the relatives, Rev. Weber and the singers, was brought to the Missouri Crematory, where it was incinerated.

Petranella returned a few weeks ago from Champaign, Ill., where she had been attending college. She came here for a rest from her studies.

METCALF UPHOLDS JAPANESE

Treaty Forbids School Discrimination, He Says.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 14.—Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf, who was sent here by President Roosevelt to investigate the complaint of Japanese that their children were excluded from San Francisco schools, has left here for Washington. Before his departure he is said to have confided to a few friends that he found the sentiment of San Franciscans and Californians overwhelmingly in favor of a statute strictly prohibiting the mingling of Japanese and Chinese children with Caucasian children in the public schools.

The Secretary said, according to today's Call, that, in his opinion as a lawyer, the treaty between the United States and Japan guaranteed to the children of Japanese residents in this country the right to an education in the Public Schools without discrimination and on an equal plane with the most favored nations. He would so report to the President, he said. The word, "Mongolian," strictly interpreted, it was his further opinion, meant natives of Mongolia, and the Japanese could not be brought under that designation. He thought the Federal courts would declare the State law, providing that Asiatic children be taught in separate schools, unconstitutional.

SHE GAZED ON DEAD BROTHER THEN LEAPED FROM WINDOW

INSANITY UPHELD AS DIVORCE CAUSE

Seneca N. Taylor Wins Debate With Governor of Pennsylvania.

At the session of the National Congress on Uniform Divorce Laws in Philadelphia Tuesday, Seneca N. Taylor of St. Louis took issue on a proposition with Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania.

The Governor objected to a clause in the bill of uniform divorce laws before the convention, which provides that if either husband or wife, unknown to the other, was insane at the time of the contract it should be annulled. He held that marriage is a personal relation and that a third party has no right in the contract.

Mr. Taylor contended that the third party is the public, which had a right to prevent or annul the marriages of insane persons.

He was supported by C. Larure Munson of Williamsport, Pa., who held that the clause furnishes a protection for an insane person against a designing man or woman. The clause was adopted by the convention.

The uniform causes of divorce agreed on are infidelity, felony, bigamy, desertion, habitual drunkenness and intolerable cruelty. The bill also includes seven causes for the annulment of marriage. All references to proceedings and practice were striken out of the bill. The congress was composed of delegates from 27 states and the District of Columbia, and representatives from Protestant denominations and Bishop Shanley of the aCtholic diocese of North Dakota. Gov. Pennypacker presided.

Furlong Heads Irish-Americans

At the annual meeting held Tuesday night at Hotel Jefferson, the Irish-American society elected the following officers: President, Frank P. Furlong; first vice-president, John J. GIRL SEIZED HEAD OF RUNAWAY HORSE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 14.—Miss Barbara Krause, living north of Edwardsville, made a heroic attempt to stop a runaway this morning and save a young man friend.

She was leaving the gate of her home north of town to visit a neighbor when her attention was attracted by a runaway coming down the road. In the buggy was John Gremer, a young farmer of the neighborhood. The lines had broken and he was powerless to do anything to stop the horse, and from the form of the vehicle it was not safe to jump.

Miss Krause hurried to the center of the road and by a well timed spring caught the bridle. She was carried off her feet and swung by one hand. Her weight was checking the animal when it gave a sudden lurch, which threw the young woman and the vehicle containing Gremer down an embankment. Miss Krause escaped with scratches.

Gremer was painfully hurt about the head and one arm. The buggy was entirely wrecked.

RELIEF FROM RAILROAD CONGESTION

One of the legitimate lessons to be drawn from James J. Hill's dark picture of traffic congestion by reason of the inability of the railroads to handle the produce of the country is the necessity of improving and increasing the waterways. If the railroad managers and owners really check construction, as Mr. Hill threatens, on account of alleged hostile legislation, or if they are unable to construct new trackage and equipment rapidly enough to keep up with the development of the country's commerce, it is necessary to help out the railroads, and the quickest and most effective way of doing this is to improve the waterways we have and construct additional canals.

A glance at the map of the United States shows that the great productive region known as the Mississippi Valley is gridironed with a system of natural waterways, consisting of the Mississippi River and its tributaries. Many of these natural waterways are navigable now, but all of them could easily be made navigable at all seasons of the year, and by a system of connecting waterways could be made to handle nearly all of the bulky freight, thus relieving the railroads and at the same time regulating freight rates.

All the big cities between the Alleghanies and the Rockies are waterway cities. Although we have not realized a fraction of the benefits of water transportation, one can imagine what these cities, which are centers of trade and production, would become with fully developed water transportation and with streams navigable at all times, connecting them with each other and with other cities and with the productive regions of the country.

The completion of the proposed waterway from the gulf to the lakes, which is the central artery, will at once vastly extend the beneficial influence of water transportation. It will connect the Mississippi with the lakes and the ocean on the north, and with the gulf and the ocean on the south. Even this much improvement in our waterways will greatly relieve the railroads of bulky freight. When the Panama Canal is completed, much of the freight now handled by transcontinental lines will be handled by water.

The outlook is not so bad as Mr. Hill seems to think it is. With fully developed and utilized waterways, there will not be so much need of railroad equipment for bulky freight, and railroad transportation will not be so costly.

It is rather significant that the headquarters of both Bryan and Hearst, the leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, are located up Salt River.

ALICE-SIT-BY-THE-RADIATOR

Mrs. Russell Sage tells the woman who would be absolutely happy to sit by the fire and acquiesce in all the stupid things said by her husband.

Mrs. Sage is a sincere adviser of her sex, but she is old-fashioned. Precepts applicable in the days when she was learning how to be happy though married are not available today. People do not sit by fires any more. If the woman of today could sit by an old-fashio ed, open fire, with a glowing backlog and a chocolate pot swinging over the coals, she would be living more happiness than Mrs. Sage can suggest. If her slippers were good, thick, soft slippers, she wouldn't care a rap on the andiron whether hubby said anything stupid or not, and if she had the right kind of a basking robe and a comfortable back-slanting chair she wouldn't even care if he never stayed home.

But Alice-Sit-by-the-Radiator knows none of the bliss and coziness enjoyed in Mrs. Sage's day by Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire. Radiators are so different. Isn't there some other way, Mrs. Sage?

The deaf and dumb woman who talked just as she was passing out of life has given further evidence of woman's unfailing powers of speech.

ONE THING AT A TIME.

The intentions of the White House are the best possible, no doubt, but the White House has one habit which is likely to defeat the best intentions. From time to time it shows that it finds its greatest happiness in trying to do too many things at once, as it is doing now in the matter of the Nu Grammar.

It would have been much better to get through with the revolution in the dictionary and the reconstruction of Cuba before beginning a revolution in English grammar; yet before one of these extra-constitutional interventions has been completed, another has been rushed out after it, until all three are now in progress at once. So we have the recent White House announcement of Secretary Hitchcock's retirement, given out officially in the Nu Grammar throughout.

Under the old grammar, when Mr. Hitchcock feels tired, he is obliged to rest. Under the Nu, he "feels and was" regardless of the old rule against using "and" to connect different moods and tenses with the same nominative.

Under the old grammar, the White House would have said: "Mr. Hitchcock has felt for some time," according to the rule against splitting tenses. What the White House says under the Nu Grammar is that "Mr. Hitchcock has for some time felt."

Under the old grammar, we might have been told that "the President went over the choice of a successor carefully with Mr. Hitchcock." What we are actually told under the Nu is that "the President went carefully over with Mr. Hitchcock the choice of a successor." And so on and so forth, until it is clear we are to have the Nu Grammar whether we like it or not.

Perhaps, like the Filipinos and other insurrectos, we might learn to like it in time. Still, with one thing at a time, we might be educated more satisfactorily to all concerned.

The opposition of Hetty Green to the trusts is not likely to take the form of large donations to fight them.

THE VILLAREAL CASE.

The extradition of Antonio Villareal and other Mexican revolutionists should not be granted except upon convincing evidence that they will be fairly tried for the crimes of which they are nominally accused and not be made to suffer for political offenses.

It is the general principle that accused persons cannot be tried except for the crime named in the demand for extradition. But it is the general practice of England and the United States, and probably other governments, to refuse extradition whenever there is a probability, or even a possibility, that the indictment offered is a mere cloak to conceal the purpose of the Government claiming the person, to punish him for revolutionary acts.

In the Villareal case, the charge is murder. But extradition was first sought on the charge that he had broken into an arsenal belonging to the Government and taken out arms and ammunition. That this latter offense was political and not mere burglary or larceny seems probable from the fact that since coming to this country he has engaged in a revolutionary propaganda against the Diaz Government. Murder appears to be an afterthought to cover the real designs of that Government. If this is not the explanation, why was not this the charge originally brought when his extradition was first demanded?

Our Government cannot with dignity be used to serve the political purposes of any Government, however friendly. It may be said that if the fugitive is really tried for murder our scruples are satisfied. But this argument has not, in the past, satisfied English and American statesmen who have required convincing guarantees of fairness. They have always given the fugitive the benefit of the doubt.

We desire to live on terms of closest friendship with Mexico. We sympathize with the earnest efforts of President Diaz to establish and maintain order in a country in which, until his coming, anarchy prevailed to a barbarous extent. But we shall buy Mexican good will at too high a price if we violate a tradition which had its rise in a love of political liberty and sacrifice a principle which experience has more than justified.

Secretary Shaw was so busy with his boom that he neglected to buy silver when it was cheap.

DISTRIBUTING WEALTH.

"I propose giving away much of my wealth before I die," said Pedro Alvarado, the richest Mexican, "for none of it can I take with me and only a fool would hoard wealth while half the world starves."

Senor Alvarado has just discovered some ancient wisdom on the futility of accumulating and holding great wealth and the impossibility of taking it out of the world. His idea of using his wealth to help the poor help themselves is good. But a better idea than that of Senor Alvarado in giving to the poor or of Mr. Carnegie in building libraries, or of Mr. Rockefeller in endowing colleges is the simple plan of not making so much money, the disposal of which to advantage is difficult and laborious.

If the money is distributed while it is being made among all those who share in the production and even to consumers in lower prices, no one is likely to be embarrassed with either too much or too little.

Gov. Cummins is again Governor and the Iowa idea still lives. Will Congress be sane enough to profit by it?

CHURCHES AND AUTOMOBILISTS.

The most serious accusation against automobiles is that they keep people away from church.

In Connecticut an old pastor was twice thrown out of his carriage while on his way to one of his two county charges. He was permanently disabled and one of his churches is abandoned. The country people, who have depended upon buggies and carriages Sunday mornings, now stay at home. The roads are thick with automobiles, horses frighten and accidents are frequent. In Bucks County, Pa., the roads were recently rebuilt at great cost, the farmers footing the bill. They thought it would facilitate the delivery of milk and butter at the railroad stations and make church-going easier. Immediately the automobiles from the cities blocked the road and the farmers are worse off than ever in respect to butter and milk and religious exercises. The same thing has occurred in New York State.

While it is true that with many people any excuse to stay at home Sunday morning is a good excuse, it must be allowed that the complaints of the country folk are not destitute of warrant. It is hard to pay for roads and then have the use of them made dangerous by people in strange, ferocious demons of machinery. The remedy is care and courtesy on the part of automobilists. A little kindness and consideration will soon dispel the prejudice against the machines and rid the roads of a danger which is often very real.

It seems that the Republicans lost Missouri through "over-confidence." Perhaps is was "over-confidence" that lost Pennsylvania to the Democrats.

FEAR OF THE ELECTRIC CRADLE.

Frm the Albany (N. Y.) Argus.

The man who invented an electric cradle, the newest in baby tenders, must have been inexperienced in the ways of mothers or he would have known the futility of patenting the contraption to which no woman with the average amount of maternal nerves would for a minute trust her offspring lest it might be electrocuted at the first rock. For some time to come the baby rocking of the universe is likely to be done by hand.

OUR DEVOTION TO MUSIC.

St. Louis has often been censured for her alleged inappreciation of music, and it has been a sort of habit to point her out as a lover of ragtime and a blower of mouth harps. We spent millions during the World's Fair trying to convince the world that we had no other gods before Apollo, but as recently as last spring we were consigned to the pittomless bot by one of the managers of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company because we did not fill the house as full when there was nobody singing as we did when Caruso was on.

Happily, we have now had a demonstration which renders our attitude toward music perfectly clear: The sale of season seats for the Apollo Club concerts began at a downtown music store Tuesday morning of this week. When the store closed at 7:30 Monday evening 12 persons were already in line for the morning sale. By midnight the number in line had increased to 68. From that hour until the store opened the line steadily grew longer. The night was the coldest of the season. A chill wind blew, and there was a very heavy frost. Yet the music-lovers in line held their faces into the wind all night long, stamped their feet on the pavement, walloped themselves with their arms to keep the blood circulating, and stuck cheerfully to their posts.

Now let some of the boastful music-loving cities which have been abusing us show THEIR hands!

If the Mississippi River had Mark Twain (12 feet), we wouldn't have to hold conventions to devise ways and means of making it navigable for ocean-going craft. Come back, Mark!

Santos-Dumont had to bring his flying machine down sooner than he expected because the crowd got in the way. Man, the poor devil, is always in the way, even of flying machines.

Secretary Taft is in Texas. For the first time in its history, Texas has reason to feel crowded.

The White Mountain Apaches in Arizona, like the Utes, are reported to be starving. The way the red man got the scalp of the pale face is nothing to the way the pale face is getting the stomach of the red man.

The chrsanthemum show at Shaw's Garden is a gorgeous thing, but it is not making any sort of a stir. The last syllable of the name seems to be the word concerning this beautiful display.

A Boston man has discovered the number of ticks made in a year by the hairspring in a watch—157,680,000. Now let him discover anybody that cares.

MR. JARR CUTS HIMSELF

He Engages in an Early-Morning Argument With Mrs. Jarr While Shaving, and the Wife Draws First Blood.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by
By Roy L. McCardell.

"Thank Goodness, I am Not a Bearded Lady and Don't Shave!" "That Isn't the Reason You Couldn't Shave, Mrs. Jarr: It's Because You Couldn't Hold Your Chin Still Long Enough."

"I DO believe that I could lie here all day and nobody would think enough of me to bring me up a cup of tea some toast," said Mrs. and Jarr petulantly from the pillows.

"Why is it," said Mr. Jarr, who was shaving; "why is it that when a woman ties her hair up in knots in those kid fixtures that she always howls for tea and toast in the morning?"

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Jarr, I haven't howled," said his good lady, with asperity. "As for my poor kid curlers—and they only cost 15 cents a dozen, and they are the only things that don't cut or break the hair—you should be the last person to say a word about them!"

"Oh, I should, should I?" sneered Mr. Jarr.

"Yes, you should!" replied Mrs. Jarr, sitting up in bed and making a dab at her eyes with the end of the coverlet, "I try to take a little pride in my appearance, and yet if I was to go twice a week to the hairdresser's and get my hair Marsel-waved you would raise an awful row about my being extravagant!"

"I wouldn't do anything of the kind!" snorted Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, yes, you would!" said his wife, with a long-suffering air. "I suppose you would like me to use curling tongs on my hair and burn it and ruin it, like Mrs. Rangle's is!"

"Good gracious! What do I care what you do with your hair? Talk of troubles! Suppose you had to shave every day! But, no; that's impossible," said Mr. Jarr.

"Of course it's impossible, although it's not impossible for you to insult me," sobbed Mrs. Jarr. "Thank goodness, I'm not a bearded lady!"

"It isn't that," said Mr. Jarr, maliciously. "You couldnt keep your chin still long enough to be shaved. Gee-whillikens! I've cut myself!"

"Why don't you keep your chin still long enough to be shaved?" said Mrs. Jarr, coolly. "But I'm not talking about shaving, nor am I talking about the fact that I try to take care of my hair, even if I can't afford to have it Marcel waved, like Mrs. Kittingly does. I'd be more appreciated if I did! I'm not talking about"——

"For gracious' sake! What are you talking about, then?" asked Mr. Jarr, ruefully gazing at the gash on his chin.

"I only tried to say that no one in this house thinks enough of me to bring me up a cup of tea and a piece of toast in the morning!" said Mrs. Jarr sadly.

"Did you ask anybody to?" said Mr. Jarr.

"What would be the use?" replied his wife. "I've a terrible headache, but nobody cares. I might lie here until I starved to death and no one would bring me a cup of tea."

"You've got a headache from tying your hair up in knots all night in those kid things!" said Mr. Jarr, ignoring the last remark.

"I've got a headache because I am stuck in this house from dawn till dark, a perfect slave and a fool that I am, trying to get a bit of fresh air, mending your socks—and you never wear a pair but what you make your toes go through just for spite!—and fixing and 'arning for the children; and much you care, and much they care!" sobbed Mrs. Jarr.

Just then little Emma Jarr came into the room with a tray.

"Oh, momma, I've brought you up a tea and toast," she said.

"Oh, never mind dear; you've been so long about it, I'll get up and take breakfas with your father," said Mrs. Jarr.

"Well, for goodness sake, a few of those things out of your hair! If you could see how you looked!" said Mr. Jarr.

"Do you think it is very appetizing to sit across from a man with a bloody chin?" replied Mrs. Jarr.

Mr. Jarr turned around to say something in reply and struck the tray in the hands of the child and it and its contents went down with a crash.

"Oh, how could you strike the child, simply because she was thoughtful enough to bring her sick mamma a cup of tea!" exclaimed Mrs. Jarr.

Mr. Jarr made no reply. What would have been the use? And so they all went down to breakfast together.

FRA ELBERTUS' PHILOSOPHY

From the Philistine.

"MARRIED life reduces passion to a point where it is non-explodable. This is beautiful, right and well, provided it is not reduced to a degree that it gives off neither light nor power, only heat lightning. Then the divorce court is desirable."

"The delight in fishing comes from the uncertainty—you never know what is in the pond—unless you fall in, in which case you deal with a fact, and romance flees. Life is much the same. Get in over your head, and you are gone."

"All tragedies are born of good intents."

"Marked differences of opinion about a man reveal that his genius is genuine. The saviors of the of the world have all been greatly loved—and they have also been hanged between thieves."

"Receipt for bringing up your children to be kind and considerate: Be kind and considerate."

"'Don't run in debt,' says the great Dr. Charcot of Paris, 'it wrinkles the brow, dims the eye, furs the tongue, stoops the shoulders, and gives you cold feet when you want courage, happiness and health.' Don't run in debt. Sick people are usually in debt, and people in debt get sick easily—and, moreover, are very difficult to cure."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Macadamize the River.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Apropos of the movement for making the River des Peres navigable, I am reminded of a story told of Gen. Grant.

After Grant was elected President, a great many bills came up for the opening and improving of rivers so as to make them navigable. His influence was much sought after, but none pestered him so much as a lanky, pressident Virginian, who represented a little backwoods settlement that wanted a piece of pie. Finally the Virginian won his way to the President. After presenting his case, the man wound up with, "And Ah am delegated, Mr. President, by the citizens of Bullock County, to ask that you use yoah influence to obtain an appropriation of $20,000 to make this stream navigable." Grant happened to remember that this was a miserable little creek over which he had once jumped his horse. He turned to the man.

"Isn't that stream called Snake Creek?" he asked.

"Yas, sah; that's it," was the joyous response.

"And it's in Bullock County, passing a little town called Wayne?"

"Yas, sah, Mistah President; that's it, sah." The Virginian could hardly conceal his joy as he saw the appropriation at close range.

Grant turned to him gravely. "Look here," he said, "why don't you macadamize it?"

LOG-ROLLER.

Offer to an Unhappy Girl.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Yes, suicide is more than a sin. It is cowardice, for God made room for us all in this world. And when He put us here He intended for us to remain until He called us home. There is always room for the weak and timid as well as the healthy and strong, and if the unhappy girl will leave her address with Post-Dispatch editor, the writer will see that she gets a position that will suit her.

Why Do Not the Citizens Act?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The communication from "Good Government" asking you to take an interest in East St. Louis politics was timely. Your paper circulates more than any other, yet you take no interest in trying to get us a good government. Our County Jail is assaulted or postoffice robbed of an entire issue of a paper, an attack is made on a minister, and people stand amazed. Won't you do something for the people in return for your immense subscription list? CITIZEN.

Elastic Currency.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The sine qua non of currency reform is, in my opinion, an arrangement whereby all banks will be enabled to issue new bills in exchange for old, and that no bills shall be reissued. The present system seems to suit the people. No plan could, in my opinion, be devised that would impart to the currency the so-called elasticity. Be the volume large or small, it must inevitably drift to the great commercial centers and there remain until called for in the regular course of business. C. AUGUSTINE.

Press Reports Said 800.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Noting an editorial in your publication Saturday, Nov. 10, which, in part, reads: "The Police Department, following the instructions of the spring grand jury, reported 800 cases of violators of the ordinance," I believe it is in order as a public servant and as a matter of public news and public record, to correct the statement, firstly as a matter of justice to the assistants of this department and to myself, and secondly, in a spirit of fairness.

For the information of those interested and as a matter of public news, the reports of the Police Department, requested by the spring grand jury through the Acting Chief of Police, show 130 instead of 800 violations of the law. This is out of approximately 1500 possible violators of the law.

Thirty of these apply to brick kilns and tile and pipe kilns. The violations reported in the 100 remaining boiler plants, practically all of which have installed modern smoke-preventing devices, were evidently due to the carelessness of the parties in charge of boiler rooms, and the ordinance pending covering the licensing of firemen will help to remedy these complaints.

Of the 231 prosecutions by this department, 27 firms are comprised in this list of 100 violations reported by the police. Yours truly,

C. H. JONES,
Chief Smoke Inspector.

COL. TODHUNTER

The Unmincing Guide Post to True Democracy and Unterrified Turnabouter in the Face of Defeat Pours a Few Timely Words From the Crucible of Thought as to Recent Happenings in Missouri.

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Ripley D. Saunders.

"WELL, suh," said Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter, mournfully, "I reckon you've been sorter surprised at not hearing from me since the day of the elections, but the solemn truth is that if I'd a-talked any sooner than now there would probably have been so many Kentucky cuss-words in my few but forcible remarks that I'd a-felt very much ashamed of 'em afterwards.

"I don't like to swear, suh, and Mrs. Todhunter is doing her level best to break me of the habit—though I never indulge in it in her presence, I'm g'd to say, suh—and I'm getting old and oughtn't ever to break loose anywhere, but I'll be dadfrazzled if a lifelong and dyed-in-the-wool Democrat wasn't justified in letting out at least a few uncensored comments on last Tuesday's results, suh. I wasn't feeling any too good Wednesday morning when I fust woke up, anyway, suh, because I'd already learned the wust by watching the bulletins Tuesday night and had tried to console myself with a few uplifting toddies, suh, so when I opened my eyes and confronted the situation Wednesday I confess that I commun d out loud with my own soul pretty vigorously, suh. But that's all past and gone now, suh, and I ain't holding any post-mortems.

"What makes me mad, though, is to hear so many Democrats shouting that 'the Mysterious Stranger' has lifted his despot heel off'n Missouri's shore, suh, just becau the Republicans didn't carry the whole State, suh. They carried St. Louis with the devil's own rush, didn't they, suh, making a clean sweep of our three congressional districts—and they held Missouri down as a doubtful State, justifying the Mysterious Stranger in putting up the fight of his life to carry it in the next elections, didn't they, suh? Well, dog my cats if I can see any provocation for Democratic shouting in this condition of affairs, suh—unless we're in the fix of the man who was so sure of getting licked that he came out of the scrimmage hooraying and hullabalooing because he still had one eye and a fragment of his pants left, suh.

"No, suh—when Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter hollers victory he's got to have something more than his bare life to show in justification of his hollerin', and I'll tell you right now that the less hollerin' and the more hard, straight-from-the-shoulder, fist-and-skull, rough-and-tumble, raw-head-and-bloody-bones fighting we do from now on the better it'll be for Missouri when the Democratic party tries to elect a President of these United States next time, suh, not to speak of electing a Democrat as Governor of Missouri, suh. And another thing, suh—they've got to give the wheelhorses of the party a chance to get down into the arena of the conflict and fight, suh, not keep 'em hobbled 'way back of the firing line like they did in this last election, suh.

"I ain't naming no names, suh, when I say this, but I point you to two significant facts, suh. First, Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter wasn't allowed to make one solitary speech in St. Louis in this last campaign, suh, and, second, St. Louis went Republican horse, foot and dragoons, suh. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient, suh."

NEWS OF THE THEATRES

"THE UMPIRE," the merry little musical comedy that broke all Chicago records for long runs, remaining at one theater an entire year, comes to the Century for one week, beginning next Sunday night. Chief among the reasons for its remarkable vogue are promised its modern theme, the utilization of up-to-date features, baseball and football—a melodious score brimful of "whistle hits," a book of refreshing comedy, a chorus of attractive singing and dancing girls and a snappy ensemble that fairly carries audiences away with it by its sheer spirit.

Fred Mace, the droll and original comedian seen here last season as the "Sandman" in "Piff Paff Pouf," plays the title role. Others in the presenting company are Edith Yerrington, Guelma Baker, Harry Hanlon, Catherine Bunn, Bradley Martin, George Damerel, Bert Young, Helene Salinger and Jessie Huston. The attractive little "broilers" will likewise be on view as one of the features of a chorus of 50 pretty girls.

Digby Bell, in "The Education of Mr. Pipp," is the current Century attraction.

Midweek Dramatic Notes.

Life in the barracks is the theme of the intensely interesting emotional play, "Taps" (Lights Out), in which John E. Kellerd will be seen as a star next Sunday night at the Garrick Theater. The play deals with military conditions in Germany. The drama was so successful in Berlin that it ran for two years. In London, too, the play was produced by H. B. Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and was one of last year's triumphs. Mr. Kellerd will play the stern Sergt. Volkhardt, who discovers that, unknown to him, his daughter loves an officer of high rank. Her visit to the barracks is the means of his knowledge of her secret. The part of Volkhardt gives splendid opportunity for the talent and technique of which Mr. Kellerd is the possessor. The role of the daughter, Clara, is played by Miss Viola Fortescue, the beautiful daughter of of George Fortesque, the well-known comedian.

Virginia Harned in "The Love Letter" is now at the Garrick.

Marie Cahill, in her new success, "Marrying Mary," the first big New York hit of the present season to reach St. Louis, will begin a week's engagement at the Olympic Theater next Sunday evening. The play is said to be rich in genuine humor and with many situations of the keenest comedy interest. It gives Miss Cahill a role which is declared to be the best suited to her fun-making talents of any that she has ever had, and in which she does her most effective work. She is supported by William Courtleigh and an excellent company, and a brilliant production is promised.

Clara Bloodgood in "The Truth" is at the Olympic this week.

Ruth White and Oscar L. Figman, probably two of St. Louis' greatest favorites, will be welcomed back to town next Sunday matinee, when the big musical success, "The Tenderfoot," returns for a week's engagement at the Grand. This is a special engagement and will mark the first presentation anywhere of Richard Carle's best effort at the Grand's regular scale of prices. The same careful, artistic presentation as to detail that has marked this brightest of all the Carle successes will be given the coming production. The company numbers over 50 people, including the donkey, Rupert, and a large and comely chorus.

Williams and Walker in "Abyssinia" are now at the Grand.

Joseph Santley in "Billy, the Kid," comes to the Imperial next week, beginning with Sunday matinee, and is confidently expected to repeat his past success in earlier plays. The drama in which he is now to appear is said to be of thrilling interest full of exciting situations, and giving the young star exceptionally good opportunity for effective work along his special lines. A capable supporting company and an elaborate production are promised.

"The Volunteer Organist" is the current Imperial offering.

The thrilling melodrama, "Secrets of the Police," will be next week's attraction at Havlin's, beginning with Sunday matinee. The scenes of the play are laid in New York, London, Paris and St. Petersburg, it is said to tell an exciting story, and one of its features is a meeting of the "Red Ring," the most notable band of Russian Nihilists. The rescue of a young girl from the sewers of Paris and a view of the Black Hole of London, the most dangerous criminal resort in the world, are also among the features. The play is said to be absorbingly interesting from start to finish.

"Young Buffalo, King of the Wild West," is at Havlin's now.

Coming to the Columbia next week: Edward Clark and the Six Widows, Gardner and Vincent Company, Mayme Remington and the Buster Brownies, Lillian Shaw, Bellclair brothers, The Provesanies, Vernon, the ventriloquist, the Reiff brothers and new kinorrome pictures.

"Menetekel, or the Mystic Ball," a baffling mystery, is this week's topline feature at the Columbia.

The German Stock Co. will next Sunday night revive that grand old play, "The Danischeffs," from the Russian, by Alexander Palmer, and one of the most formidable drawing pieces some 20 years ago. "The Danischeffs" was brought out by the late A. M. Palmer and first produced in St. Louis by the stock company from Palmer's Theater. The adaptation for the German stage is very fine and gives the members of the local stock an opportunity to do excellent work, especially Vilma von Hohenau, Louise Pellmann, Alexander Deubner, Ferdinand Welb, Victoria Welb-Markham, George Heinemann, Hans Loebel and the minor lights of the Heinemann-Welb organization.

By special arrangement with her management, Miss Virginia Harned will play "Camille" at the Saturday matinee of the Garrick this week, supported by William Courtenay as Armand and the rest of the excellent company now appearing in "The Love Letter," admirably cast of a brilliant performance of the great Dumas' emotional play. Miss Harned makes a singularly effective and appealing Camille, playing that favorite role with her most genuine artistic appreciation, and her appearance as "the Lady of the Camellias" is full of interest for local playgoers.

The Yankee Doodle Girls will begin a week's engagement at the Standard next Sunday afternoon. The offering comprises two spectacular burlesques, entitled "Tim Sullivan's Chowder" and "Sullivan on Guard at the Philippoines," together with a bright olio of specialties.

The Gayety's offering next week, beginning with Sunday matinee, will be the Bon Tons. Weber & Rush's popular attraction. The entertainment will include an opening and closing satire and a vaudeville program said to be particularly entertaining.

Burton Holmes commences his series of illustrated travel talks at the Odeon Thursday evening, the subject being "Cairo, the Egypt of Today." The subjects for the remaining lectures are: "The Nile; Egypt of Yesterday;" "Athens, the New Olympic Games;" "Naples and Near By" and "Vesuvius, the Eruption of 1906."

A complimentary musicale will be given to ladies and members of the Apollo Club by Mr. Charles W. Brainerd Thursday evening at 1118 Olive street. Selections from "Il Trovatore" constitute the larger part of the program, and the soloists are: Mrs. Lulu Kunkel-Burg, violinist; Miss Wilhelmina W. Lowe, harpist, and Mr. John Rohan, baritone. There will also be numbers by the Temple Quartet, consisting of Joseph A. Buse, first tenor; George M. Ravold, second tenor; John Rohan, first bass, and Leslie Cash, second bass, and a recitation by George M. Ravold.

An Old Friend.

A colored brother in a Southern town had joined every church in the hamlet, and had been baptized by immersion each time he was received into the fold of a different denomination. When he at last cast his lot with the Baptists, the announcement was made that the baptizing would take place a 4 o'clock the next afternoon.

One old sister in Zion leaned over and whispered to another: "Brudder Jackson done been baptised so often dat he fish in de creek most sholy be right well acquainted wid him!"

Distressing.

Tess: Gracious! You must have felt awful.

Jess: Oh, terrible. I just knew that my hat wasn't on straight, but I had no way to fix it.

Succeeded.

Bacon: You say Grafton is a successful man?

Egbert: He certainly is.

"But I understand his business methods are questionable; why then call him a successful man?"

"Because he's kept out of jail so far."

THE SPOOKS' UNION

Reported for the Post-Dispatch
By Walter A. Sinclair.

("Chicago spiritualistic mediums have formed a union."—Item.)

THE witching hours when spooks do walk hereafter are restricted.
Eight hours' haunting to the night are all to be inflicted.
Nonunion ghosts will run against the trusty phantom pickets,
And none will be allowed to haunt who have no union tickets.
No longer will the sheeted spooks surprise the frightened yokels
Unless they are in standing with some spirit, spooky locals.

Each haunted house will save to give the union spirits' papers
Or else go out of business in the line of spooky capers.
If "open shops" for spooking are more to the owners' liking,
They'll run against the union—there will be some ghostly striking.
And as for using Chinese ghosts—they're foolish if they try it,
For then the astral bricks will fly—there'll be a ghastly riot.

The ghostly walking delegate will roam the astral regions,
And he'll enforce the wishes of the hard-worked spooky legions.
No more will spooky messengers be urged to be quick steppers,
And they will put in overtime for work at Mrs. Pepper's.
Now "Little Bright Eyes," angel child, will do no more night working,
And, after doing eight per day, old "Big Chief" may be shirking.

LET JEEMS GO

DURING the war Jefferson Davis received a letter from a young girl whose fiance was a member of the Fifth South Carolina Regiment, which bore such an important part in the seven days' battle about Richmond. The letter is as follows:

I want you to let Jeems C. of Company oneth, 5th So. Carolina Reg. come home and get married. Jeems is willin,' I is willin', his mammy she says she is willin', but Jeems' captain, he ain't willin'. Now when we're all willin' 'ceptin' Jeems' captain, I think you might let up and let Jeems come. I'll make him go straight back when he's done got married and fight just as hard as ever.

Your Affectionate Friend, Etc.

Mr. Davis laughed immediately at this and indorsed upon the back of the letter: "Let Jeems go," and Jeems went and returned.—Spare Moments.

All in the Expression.

Foote Lights: Can you tell what a man thinks of a play by his expression?

Miss Sue Brette: Sure thing! If he says "rot," I know at once what he thinks.

MARY AGNES PERRY

Mrs. Charles Perry, of Glens Falls, N. Y., writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. Our little daughter had lost flesh, was thin, pale and sickly, and nothing seemed to do her any good. Having heard of Vinol we decided to try it, and the results were marvelous. It restored her appetite and she is gaining in weight right along; the color has returned to her cheeks and she seems stronger than she has for years."

Every mother in St. Louis is asked to try Vinol. It certainly does make children robust, strong and healthy. Vinol is a pure cod liver and tonic iron preparation, without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. It is delicious to the taste and children love it.

There has never been sold anything equal to Vinol to create strength for old people, sickly women and children. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

NOTE.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in St. Louis, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Suspicious.

She: You say your son is away yet?"

He: Yes, he's been away about eight months now.

"Was he in poor health, or did he previously work in a bank?"

Tomaha wk Throwing

WHEN the writer was a small lad in Kentucky, it was the ambition of the boys, not to go and kill Indians, but to be able to throw a tomahawk with the skill and accuracy of our pioneer forebears, and the ability soon acquired by the boys in throwing hatchets at targets was really remarkable. They would come up to within 30 feet of an old board fence with a whoop and a yell, then "click! click! click!" would go the hatchets, each and every one sticking fast in the board, either in a true vertical or horizontal line, as it pleased them. Ever since those glorious days of my boyhood in throwing the tomahawk should be one Kentucky it has seemed to me that of the regular feats at all American athletic meets.

When we youngsters first took up the tomahawk as a plaything, of course we were very awkward in its use. There was no one to show us, and no one to tell us how to do anything we wanted to do, so we had to learn from experiments. It took a long time to find out how to hold the implement. Each lad, without exception, began by grasping the handle of the hatchet any old way, swung it in a curve and let it go while the blade was in a diagonal slanting position. This would send it wobbling through the air with poor results as to marksmanship, and no power to stick into the mark, for even when the blade by chance hit the mark it struck across the grain and the ax fell to the ground. But at last we learned to stand firmly before the mark with our feet spread apart, the weight of the body resting upon the right leg. We also learned to take aim, not by sighting along the hatchet, but by fixing our eyes on the mark, and so holding our weapon that its edge formed part of the vertical line. When the tomahawk is brought back from position over the shoulder without turning the edge to one side or the other, and thrown from this position, the blade cleaves its way straight through the air, and the air itself tends to keep it true to its course.

The prettiest feature of hatchet-throwing is team work, and after you have learned to send the tomahawk whirling through the air, each one quickly following the other, so that the last one strikes the target before the first ceases to quiver, all exactly in a vertical line, then it is time to attempt the more difficult feat of sinking your hatchets in the target in a horizontal line, but after this is accomplished any sort of fancy figure that you may desire may be made on the target with the tomahawks, the simplest of which is the cross.

For ordinary field work make a target on a broad, two-inch pine plank, and do it by marking the plank with chalk, or, better still, paint the board white and the stripes black. The breadth of the bull's-eye, that is the center stripe, must depend upon the skill of the tomahawkers and the distance of the throw. The bull's-eye counts four and the white spaces on each side three, two and one, respectively.—Dan Beard in Woman's Home Companion.

Redd: I heard he was worried over his new automobile.

Greene: Well, I saw him out yesterday, and he was worrying under it just then.

Only "So-So."

Cassie—What sort of a time did you have at the needlework class?

Lulu—Oh, sew, sew.

The Compromise.

I can't eat meat, the doctor says,
I must turn vegetarian,
So I'll order murtle chops, or else
Goulash a la Hungarian.

All Gone to Waist.

A tight-lacel young thing named Verbena
Around her equator grew leaner
And leaner each day,
Till she "waisted" away,
So you soon could see daylight between her.

Gives an Encore.

Said Luna—I've just turned eighteen.
Said Cholly—You don't look it, dear.
Said Willy—Don't you believe it. She turns eighteen every year.

Suburban Bribery.

The Local Boss: Now, of course, Mr. Earlytrane, I wouldn't try to influence you for the world, but this lady is Della McSlannigan, and, if you do vote right, Delia will go home with you and work for $12 a month. Incidentally, she'll agree to stay a year, at least.

Where Knowledge Kills Love.

"There's no doubt about it," said he, oracularly, "a man is known by the company he keeps."

"Nonsense!" replied the wise girl, "If the average man were really known by his company she'd shake him right away."

CYNICISMS

PEACE congresses will sit more or less vainly as long as it is genuine fun for boys to kill a toad.

WHEN you see a millionaire Socialist, it is safe betting he didn't make the money himself.

MANY a man would be happily married if it wasn't for his wife.—Puck.

The Truth About the Matter.

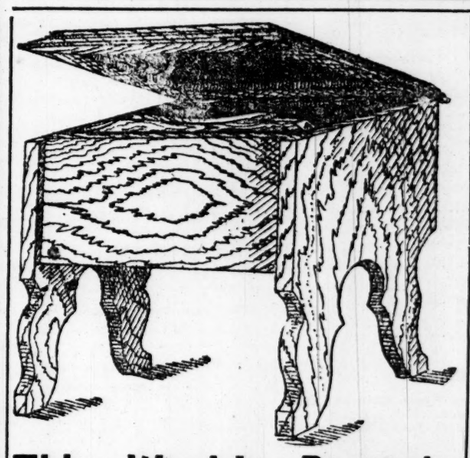

"To be, or not to be, that is the question," cried Hamlet in a loud voice, but it was destined that he should proceed no further.

"Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order," interrupted the Ghost, who had been sitting in one of the rear seats, "the motion to adjourn is not debatable."

Confronted thus by Robert's Rules of Order, the Noble Dane paled, muttered incoherently and sat down. Afterward he had his speech inserted in the Congressional Record.—Woman's Home Companion.

Easy to Always Have Rich Milk and Cream

TAKE a three-pint measure.
Fill it two-thirds full of water.
Now fill it full by adding the contents of one can of Van Camp's Sterilized Cream.
Result—3 pints of superfine milk.
Now take a quart measure and fill it half full of water. Add to this a can of Van Camp's Sterilized Cream. Result—1 quart of rich "cereal cream."
One can of Van Camp's Sterilized Cream costs 10 cents, or about 9 cents if bought by the case of 48 for $4.50.

* * *

There are two serious objections to raw cow's milk as the milkman brings it. It contains germs—souring germs always and, much too frequently, disease germs.

Van Camp's Sterilized Cream is the easy and economical way to always have good milk and cream with no germs.

Get your grocer to send you a can today—10 cents.

LAUNDRY COMBINE COERCED CHINESE

Proceedings by State Against Alleged Trust Will Be Urged.

SUPPLY HOUSE BOYCOTT

Increase in Prices Celebrated With Wine at Southern Hotel.

Attorneys in the damage suit against the St. Louis Laundrymen's Association say they expect to develop testimony of such a nature as to require Attorney-General Hadley or Circuit Attorney Sager to begin quo warranto proceedings against the alleged Laundry Trust.

The suit is for $30,000, asked by James McDaniels and Henry C. Milbratz, who charge that members of the association combined to put them out of business.

Taking of depositions in the case will be resumed Friday, following the adjournment of the hearing Tuesday before Clifford B. Allen, Special Commissioner.

George A. Hays, one of the proprietors of the South Side Laundry and a defendant in the suit, testified before Mr. Allen Tuesday that he was one of the association's committee of four which induced Chinese laundrymen to raise their prices to conform with those of the association. According to other witnesses, the committee told the Chinamen that laundries would be established near them and they would be driven out of business if they did not raise the prices.

McDaniels testified that several laundry supply houses had refused to sell to him because the association had threatened to boycott them if they did. He said the methods of the association menaced his credit, in some instances, with supply houses.

Hays further testified that McDaniels was present at the meeting at the Southern Hotel three years ago and voted to raise prices. He said the Chinamen were charging 5 and 7½ cents for shirts when the committee visited them in an open carriage. The increase of prices at the meeting at the Southern Hotel, he said, had been celebrated with wine.

Attorneys James R. Rollins and Burr S. Goodman, against the association, expect to file an amended petition in the Circuit Court more specifically stating the agency agreement between members of the association.

F. N. Judson, Ben Schnurmacher and Taylor R. Young are the attorneys for the association.

BRIDGE WORKERS WARY OF MAYOR

Objections Raised to Amendment Which Might Increase His Power.

RETURNED TO COMMITTEE

Hitchcock Tells Fellow Members Bond Sale Is Compulsory.

The amendment to the bond bill, in which Charles F. Ziebold and other advocates of the free bridge saw a trap laid by its opponents, caused a stormy ten minutes at the meeting of the City Council Tuesday.

The amendment reached the Council early in the meeting in a message from the House of Delegates. On motion of Councilman Davis it was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

About half an hour later in the meeting Chairman Hitchcock of the Ways and Means Committee reported the amendment favorably and recommended its passage.

Lesser asked for information regarding the amendment.

"I am informed," he said, "that the amendment makes it optional with the Mayor and Comptroller whether they shall issue the bonds. I am informed that if they do not favor the free bridge, they need not issue the bonds to build it and so can defeat the expressed will of the people."

Hitchcock Defeats Amendment.

"I have had an extended conference on the bill with Comptroller Player," said Hitchcock, "and I can assure Mr. Lesser that his fears are unfounded. The section of the bill which compels the issue of all the bonds is unchanged. The only change which the amendment makes is that the bonds can be issued at such times and in such quantities as they are needed. I reported the measure so promptly because I did not want to expose the Council to a charge that it was delaying the bond issue."

Councilmen Davis and Cramer joined Mr. Lesser in question and protest against the amendment.

"I think it would be better," said Councilman Davis, "if the bill and amendment were recommitted to the committee in order that the subject may be thoroughly investigated and all doubts set at rest."

This course was taken by the Council, and the bill was sent back to the committee, which had just reported it.

The Comptroller has stated in an interview that the amendment enabling the bonds to be issued in installments would save the city money in that bonds would be issued as they were needed and thus interest would be saved. He further says by this plan the city could save by taking advantage of the market.

Ziebold Makes Reply.

M. Ziebold has issued a statement replying to this in which he argues that the interest paid on the bonds would be offset pending the use of the money by the interest paid to the city by the banks in which it is deposited.

He asks in this connection why it is that only 11 of the 30 banks in St. Louis bid for the city deposits and that they only pay the city 2.6 per cent interest, whereas they are willing to pay 3 and 4 per cent for much smaller deposits from individuals.

He further points out that the original bill providing for the issuance of the bonds all at once was prepared by the Comptroller and wants to know why the Comptroller hadn't discovered the advantages of the installment plan then.

No action was taken in the Council Tuesday on the plan for a joint committee of the two bodies to consider the recommendations made in the Mayor's recent free bride message. The resolution amended by the House to allow that body five members on the committee to harmonize the conflicting ideas of the Council and the House on the resolution cannot now be named before next Tuesday, as the Council adjourned to that time.

Griffin Real Estate Co. Sales.

C. M. McDonald, secretary of the Griffin Real Estate Co., has closed the sale of the single four and five room flat building known as 2828 Indiana avenue, with lot 75x125 feet, for Clara E. Young to Philip Marschel for $5000. Also sold the property known as 24 and 26 South Fifteenth street, and as 23 and 25 Johnson street, with lot 35 feet on Fifteenth street by 150 feet through to Johnson street, for Herman J. Krembs Jr., represented by Storm & Farish, to F. D. Hampson Photo Co. for $6000. The photo company will at once erect a building on the premises for their own use.

Attorney Loses Fee Suit.

Wilbur S. Jenkins won his suit Wednesday against W. H. Clopton, an attorney, who wanted a fee of 50 per cent for settling an estate. Jenkins, who represented the heirs of the estate, said Clopton wasn't entitled to more than 10 per cent, and the jury in Judge Withrow's court took that view. At 10 per cent the fee will be $120. Clopton wanted $600.

POST-DISPATCH'S RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

LOCAL STOCKS FIRM, QUIET

Some Revival of Interest in the Bond List Is Noted.

BANK LIST IS QUIET

Fractionally Higher Price for Odd Lots Traction Preferred.

Wednesday morning's session of the local Stock Exchange was quieter than any session of the week.

The only trading was in the preferred stock of the United Railways and in St. Louis Brewery Association 6 per cent bonds.

While the limited transactions in bonds of the Brewing Association represented all there is in the way of a revival of last week's activity in that market, the sales made were at unchanged prices and the bidding in other bond issues, including United Railways, was lower, holders refusing to trade at the low bids made.

There was no encouragement for transactions in the bank and trust lists, as the intending purchasers continue the making of bids lower than the average. St. Louis bankers and owners of large blocks of bank stocks are agreed that the security, in consideration of its gilt-edge quality, is already lower by comparison than in other cities.

FINANCIAL.

Call money on the New York Stock Exchange opened Wednesday at 9 per cent and was quoted in the next hour at 7½ per cent.

St. Louis banks are slowly gaining cash from the interior. Deposits are creeping up and while no sensational gains have been made thus far this week it can be stated on the word of three banks that conditions are considerably improved so far as the size of deposits are concerned. Borrowers are by no means fewer and the discount departments of the local institutions are scenes of unusual activity from day to day. Rates are about the same, ranging from 5½ to 6½ per cent. Collections are quite good and routine matters exceptionally satisfactory.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings, for Wednesday, $11,289,153; last week, $10,057,470. Balances for Wednesday, $620,621; last week, $993,423. Decrease, clearings, $2,768,317; decrease, balances, $372,802.

Messrs. George H. Burr & Co., commercial paper brokers, 31 Third National Bank Building, report local money: Indorsed bills, receivable 4 to 6 months, 6 to 6¼ per cent; high-grade and single-name paper, 4 to 6 months, 6¼ per cent; other names, not so well known, 6½ per cent; call money on good security, 6 per cent. Banks report an active demand at around 6 per cent, with no immediate signs of easing.

COTTON.

Reported daily for the Post-Dispatch by D. R. Francis, Bro. & Co., 214 N. Fourth street.

Liverpool cables Wednesday again indicated a good demand for spot cotton and middlings 3 points higher.

Sales were larger than Tuesday's footing of 12,000 bales. The receipts were 28,000 bales, of which 18,000 are American.

The opening of Liverpool Wednesday was quiet, steady, 9½ to 10½ points up.

The New York opening Wednesday was, January, 9.90; March, 10.12; May, 10.22; December, 9.84. Active, 10 to 18 points higher.

The close of Liverpool was: Nov., 5.51¼; Jan. and Feb., 5.44; March and April, 5.49; May and June, 5.54. The close was strong and 19 to 21 points up.

STOCKS OPEN ACTIVE, HIGHER

Industrials Have Big Advances—All Rail Issues Improve.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The market Wednesday opened ¼ to 4 points higher over both lists. The biggest advances were in the industrials, Anaconda Copper opening 4 points up.

Missouri Pacific opened ⅞ higher, St. Paul ¼ over Tuesday's high close and Great Northern was a point higher.

The same good tone pervades the market and the tendency to advance is without fluctuation.

GOVERNOR SAYS TO GIVE THANKS

Proclamation Setting Aside Nov. 29 Issued in Jefferson City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 14.—Gov. Folk today issued the annual Thanksgiving proclamation, naming Nov. 29, the day appointed by President Roosevelt, as a day of thanksgiving in Missouri. The Governor's proclamation is:

Missourians should rejoice and give thanks unto the Giver of all good things for the material and moral prosperity so bountifully bestowed upon the people of this Commonwealth. Lest we forget that we owe our wonderful advancement to the hand of Him who has been guiding our destinies, it is appropriate that there should be set apart a day of thanksgiving to the Ruler of the Universe for His blessings showered upon us as a people.

Therefore, the President of the United States having appointed Thursday, Nov. 29, 1906, that day is hereby designated as a Day of Thanksgiving in Missouri; and the people of every class and of every creed are requested to refrain from their usual avocations and assemble in their accustomed places of worship or around their own firesides and give grateful acknowledgement in song and in prayer to the God of our Nation, our State and our hearts for all that we are and hope to be.

WIDOW ROUTED CONSTABLE.

Only by Having Her Arrested Could He Serve Writ.

Twice routed by Mrs. Sarah Logan, a widow with seven children, whom he attempted to evict for nonpayment of rent, Constable Peet of St. Louis accomplished his purpose by a ruse.

Mrs. Logan occupied rooms at 114 North Eleventh street, East St. Louis. Three weeks ago judgment was returned against her in a Justice Court for three months' rent and Constable Peet was given the writ to oust her. He went to the house with two negro laborers and when he attempted to serve it, says that Mrs. Logan ran him and his assistants off the place with a hatchet.

The Constable let the matter rest until Tuesday, when he again tried to dispossess her, but once more was forced to retreat.

He then resorted to stratagem by swearing out a warrant for her arrest on a charge of resisting an officer. The police served it and took the woman to the Police Station, where a charge was preferred against her.

In the interval Constable Peets and his force invaded the house and carried the effects to the street. As he failed to appear against the woman she was discharged.

Wednesday Mrs. Logan visited Overseer of the Poor Goff and he promised to find shelter for her and her children.

WHEAT OPENS SLIGHTLY LOWER

Few Features to Early Trading—December Oats Sharply Lower.

Local wheat opened quiet and about ⅛c lower Wednesday, many of the local traders being disappointed at the gain of only ⅜d in Liverpool cables after our domestic advances of yesterday and selling out. There was a good demand at the slight reaction, however, and when fractional advances were made in other markets local prices steadied and made a slight advance, only to sag back to the lower levels when the somewhat slight demand had been exhausted. The early trading was almost entirely confined to selling of wheat bought at Tuesday's advance and some continued short covering, little new business appearing on the market. Early trading was very light, with prices ⅛c lower than Tuesday's close.

Corn opened with a good tone and advanced ⅛c early in the day, there being some moderate buying in the pit on the rough weather throughout the West, which is said to be delaying the movement. Fair weather is predicted for much of the West tomorrow.

At the opening of the oats market there was some heavy long liquidation in December option, which dropped ⅝@¾c. May being about steady. The decline in December oats was entirely due to local causes, as oats in Chicago and other markets was only slightly lower.

December wheat opened slightly lower at 73c, advanced to 73⅛c and dropped back to 72⅞@73c, ⅛c lower than Tuesday's close. May option opened ⅛c lower at 77⅛c, went as high as 77⅜c and sagged to 77⅛c.

December corn opened ⅛c higher, at 40⅛c, while May opened steady at 41⅜c and advanced to 41½c.

December oats opened ⅝@⅞c lower, at 33¼c. May was ⅛c lower, at 34⅞c.

DUELIST'S BODY FOUND?

Finding of Skeleton Recalls an Old Story.

The skeleton of a man was found by workmen while excavating a catch basin for a sewer at A and Richland streets, Belleville. The oldest inhabitant does not remember a cemetery near the spot where the skeleton was found, but there is a story among the old residents that A. C. Stuart, who was killed in a duel with Timothy Bennett in 1818, was buried there.

Stuart and Bennett had trouble and the challenge for a duel was passed. The seconds agreed not to load the guns and Bennett was admitted to the secret. When the shots were fired Stuart fell mortally wounded. Bennett was arrested and escaped for three years, when he was rearrested in Missouri, taken back to Belleville and sentenced to be hanged for the crime. His execution took place in Belleville in 1821, and he was the first white man hanged in St. Clair County.

ONE WAY TRAINS ENOUGH.

Belleville Jury Decides in Favor of Illinois Central.

A jury in the Belleville Circuit Court decided that the Illinois Central Railroad did not have to run passenger trains both ways on its northbound track between Belleville and East St. Louis, and also that it was necessary to have a double track between those two points to take care of the business.

The decision was made in a mandamus proceeding brought in the name of the people, for the use of William Schaumloeffel, against the railroad company to compel it to run trains each way over what was formerly the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute Railroad, but is now a part of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Schaumloeffel is a resident of Ogle Station, a hamlet on the road. Prior to the absorption by the Illinois Central, a parallel line, trains were run each way on the road.

After the Illinois Central purchased the Belleville Southern it was used as the southbound track. This track is nearly a mile to the south of the old track, now used by northbound trains only.

Schaumloeffel alleged that the road was compelled, under its charter, to run trains each way on the old track and stop them at Ogle Station.

To The Trade:

JANUARY 1ST, 1907, we shall occupy the entire block bounded by Washington Avenue, Tenth, Eleventh and St. Charles Streets.

In preparation for this move we shall make prices on our entire stock of Fall and Winter Goods, and odd lots in every department, to effect quick disposal. Under the present market conditions this will mean a great saving to merchants whose stocks may need replenishing.

It is to the interest of every merchant to examine our offerings or send us their orders for such items in our line as they may require.

Respectfully,

Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co.

We sell to merchants only.

The Secret of Success

A New Way to Stimulate Ambition.

Do you want to be rich and powerful?

Do you want to make a name for yourself as a man of big affairs?

Do you want to see your picture in the paper and have yourself described as a Napoleon of finance?

Do you want to be pointed out as you walk on the street as the man who made his millions by turning his body into a galvanic battery?

The human body is a machine.

The nervous system is the motor.

Electricity is the power that runs it.

The hustling spirit of American enterprise is only an expression of nervous energy.

That nervous energy is electricity.

So if you want success, if you want to do big things and have your picture in the Hall of Fame, give yourself a daily charge of electricity.

Success comes from effort; effort is the use of a physical force; physical force is electricity.

This is the belief of Dr. Hall, a physician who has made a life study of the building up of physical wrecks.

Dr. Hall's methods are different from the ways of the old-school doctors. He believes that electricity alone is the power which runs the human intellect and the physical machinery.

Dr. Hall is the inventor of the newest device for electrifying the human body. It is a dry-cell battery or series of cells combined in a girdle worn about the body at night. Dr. Hall claims that this dry-cell battery, which he calls Electro-Vigor, is as superior to the old-style electric belt as the incandescent light is to the candle.

His experience has been wide, and his success along the lines of his belief has been enormous if one is to judge by the following he has and the number of people who give him credit for their first look into the happier future that has come to them.

Dr. Hall has published a most interesting book dealing with this subject. It is highly and artistically illustrated. Any one can get it from him free for the asking. Address Dr. S. D. Hall Electro-Vigor Co., Dept. 1, 84 Adams st., Chicago, Ill., for free book.

HIGH GRADE TREATMENT

(If responsible, you may pay when cured.)

If you have a disease peculiar to men, your condition calls promptly for the best treatment the medical profession affords. Of this fact you must be thoroughly convinced when you stop to consider how many different doctors you have consulted and how many bottles of worthless medicines you have taken. We have no fault to find with the man who employs such inferior treatment, for that is his privilege, but the money he thus expends would go far toward securing for him a cure that is safe, rapid and permanent. We have long studied and thoroughly mastered infirmities of this character—male internal diseases. Recently we have treated scores of stubborn cases, and not a single failure or unpleasant result has been reported to us. Other physicians may treat men, but we can cure them, cure them to remain cured, and this fact we are prepared to prove to the entire satisfaction of any man sincerely interested. Our fees are as low as they can be consistent with high-grade treatment.

By the latest and best methods we cure, to remain cured, VARICOSE and KNOTTED VEINS, BLOOD POISON, NERVO-VITAL DEBILITY, BLADDER and KIDNEY troubles, and all associate diseases, with their reflex complications. Consultation and Examination Free.

HARVARD TO TRY THE OPEN GAME

Crimson Found That Old-Line Rugby Did Not Work Against West Point and Will Go In for the Forward Pass.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—When Harvard matched her talents with the Cadets the old plays refused to evolve decisive results, and the only successful style of play, if you except Wendell's brilliant blocking effort and subsequent dash up the field, was a forward pass from Newhall to Foster, a play which brought the ball from the 50-yard line to the 10-yard line and gave Harvard her first opportunity to accomplish certain and definite results.

The excellence with which this particular new play was executed was one of the very hopeful elements in Harvard's game. But the weaknesses which were shown up clearly enough in the West Point game furnished the themes for the efforts of the coaches. That test showed, among other things, that accuracy of on-side kicking needed much development at Harvard to compare for one moment with the accuracy of Roome's short punting at Yale; in fact, the West Point game showed that Harvard knew very little of the large value of the possibilities of the on-side kick. Inferiority of ends and tackles—Kennard must be exempt from all adverse criticism—was also apparent throughout the game.

Ends Must Improve.

To a large extent the coaching efforts at Harvard during the past week have sought to improve the ends so that they can cover Burr's magnificent punts and to bolster up the tackles so that when they face such men as Forbes and Bigelow and Hobbs they can at least prevent themselves from being the frequent emphatic objectives of the opposing eleven's attack. Forward passes and onside kicks have been tried out every day. In bad and in good weather Harvard has been actively trying to strengthen weak spots and even better the strong places.

The change of Starr to end was followed by good consequences. The little chap showed much speed, agility and familiarity with the probabilities of radical football. This year the only first-class end rush is the man who can follow the ball like a hawk or a Poe. If he be successful in this respect, he is certain sooner or later, in a game, to have the opportunity for the accomplishment of spectacular and highly decisive results. But he must be able to follow the ball swiftly wherever it goes. The need of a Peter Bowditch or a Jack Hallowell was never greater at Harvard than at the present time. With her old-timers on the ends of the line, Harvard today would be a scoring eleven against any eleven on the field—a scoring eleven in old football as well as in the reformed brand, and a rival at this comparatively early date for the chief honors of the season.

Pierce at Tackle.

The frequent tryout of Waldo Pierce at tackle recalls the remark which a Yale coach once made of this player: "We would make another Cooney out of that man." Pierce is a great, strong chap; his physique is suggestive of many football excellencies. But so far in his career Pierce has not shown the intelligent aggressiveness which makes an exceptional tackle or guard. Few men work harder to accomplish things, but somehow Pierce, for want of a highly developed football instinct such as Kersburg, Burr, Wendell and Foster have, fails to live up to his grand physical possibilities. Osborne, Warren and Inches are earnest players, too, but they are still below par.

Only the super-pessimistic or the over-earnest couch can find disparaging words for Burr, Kersburg, Foster and Wendell. The captain himself is an inspiring successor to the inspiring Hurley. Foster's game at West Point was a constant repetition of brilliant football. His work during the practice this week is further repetition of speedy, instinctive play, offensively and defensively, and always, either in games or in practice, Foster is showing himself the right man in the right place. There can be no question of this man's superior qualities as a halfback and of his general excellence as a leader. His practical football is high inspiration, and when all is said and done, a varsity captain's greatest asset to his eleven is his inspirational force.

PRINCETON PLAYS FIERY FOOTBALL

Edgren Sees the Varsity Go at the Scrub and Give It a Fearful Whaling—Dillon Is a Wonder and Cooney a Terror.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Although it was cold and snowy and dreary great crowds of the loyal sons of Princeton were on the field Tuesday to witness the last open practice before the game with Yale. Today, tomorrow and Friday secret practice will occupy the time of the club.

The subs were lined up. The Varsity kicked off, and in an instant those blue-jerseyed subs, with their mock "Y's," were rolling on the ground, tangled with a lot of wild Indians in tiger-legged stockings. If the Tigers go at Yale the way they did at those Yale uniforms with Princeton players inside there'll be nothing to it. In the half hour's play that followed the Tigers kept going swiftly. They drove the subs back across their goal line. And they kicked a goal. It was not Harlan who kicked, for Harlan was sitting on the side lines, in citizen's clothes, looking on and resting. Eddie Dillon, in spite of his serious knockout in the West Point game, ran the team and semed to be in great shape.

Dillon certainly is a wonderful little general. He is all nerves and sinew, and he weighs 150 pounds. He runs like a streak in a ragged field, jumps through openings swiftly, and is never thrown back when he is brought down. He handles the ball faultlessly. Tenney, who has played a grand game against Yale before, was the alternative quarter. Tenney is nearly, if not quite as good a man as Dillon. Yesterday Tenney made a tackle and was thrown heavily. As he struck the ground he cried out. One rubber, one player, and one of the trainers ran over to Tenney, felt him over for broken bones, took off his left shoe and examined his ankle, and finally carried him, still groaning, from the field.

On the field they make light of accidents and setbacks. Leaving the ground later, one of the students came up and said: "If Tenney is laid up, we'll be in a fix. Whew! If anything should happen to Dillon!"

Next to Dillon, Cooney stands out most prominently among his team mates. This Cooney is a terror—a man-eater. Nothing stops him when he starts to tear out a hole in the opposing line. And nothing gets by him. He is trained down like a fighter, making a required weight, yet he tips the beam at 220 pounds, stripped.

Princeton expects to win this game. There is confidence in Old Nassau. It rings in the songs of rooters, and it is echoed in the swift, silent, relentless attack of the Tiger team.

Central high defeated Manual, 18 to 0, after a hard game, mainly because Capt. Beckman of the McKinley eleven could not put and Sherry for Central gained 20 yards or more on every exchange of kicks.

LADIE'S NIGHTS BRING RARE DELIGHTS TO ATHLETIC BOYS WHO WEAR SILK TIGHTS

MICHIGAN CRIPPLED BUT ENTHUSIASTIC

Wolverine Students Assemble in Thousands to Cheer the Team at Practice—Curtis the Hero of a Wild Ovation as He Lies in Hospital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Before beginning the last hard grind of football practice, by which Penn hopes to develop an eleven that will defeat Michigan on Franklin Field Saturday, Field Coach Torrey and Capt. Greene of the Quakers showed manly consideration of the sorrow which came into the Westerners' camp with the announcement that Capt. Joe Curtis had broken his leg.

On his hospital cot in Ann Arbor Capt. Curtis yesterday read a telegram from Coach Torrey, in which the regrets of the University of Pennsylvania players and the student body were embodied. Capt. Greene's long letter will probably reach the great leader of the Wolverines today, and its receipt will undoubtedly tie the knot of good sportsmanship between Eastern and Western colleges more firmly than any conference of leaders or athletic promoters ever could.

The ethics of sportsmanship, not the old rules, were responsible for many breaches in football relations. The Harvard-Penn break came about through the manner in which the players themselves took up the annual game. Saturday's contest, East vs. West, is not any more a national championship affair than the Harvard-Cambridge boat race was of international character, but it is of national interest. Penn is not leader in the Eastern football world and Michigan has not had enough contests of the proper grade to establish championship claims. As a test of the great football machine which Yost has built—against a fair Quaker product, Saturday's Philadelphia booking is sure to attract an exceptional gathering of football enthusiasts and experts, with the Yale-Princeton contest as a counter attraction.

A Remarkable Demonstration.

Yesterday there was remarkable demonstration in Ann Arbor. Three thousand Michigan students and supporters escorted the team from Ferry Field to the gymnasium after the practice. A band led, and while the players were dressing the students cheered continually. Then the mighty army marched to the university hospital, where Capt. Curtis, propped up on a cot, surrounded by flowers, heard his name in student songs and yells.

The team will go to Philadelphia almost unsupported. Few of the students could afford to make the trip, so the special train was given up. Members of the alumni in the East have eagerly accepted the opportunity to see Hurry-Up Yost's team, and there will be a big representation of the graduates on Franklin Field. But the snappy, undergraduate cheering will be lacking unless there is a sudden exodus of Michiganders.

Michigan students have raised a pool of $1000 with which to back the team Saturday. Supporters of the eleven ask even money. A week ago, when it was believed that the Wolverines would have their strongest team in the field, Quaker backers demanded odds and the Westerners were not haggling a bit over such trivial things. It is likely that even money will prevail Saturday, with a tendency toward the Quaker end of the speculation, because of the injuries to Capt. Curtis and Patrick, the great tackle.

The outsider considers Saturday's game puzzling to figure on form. Michigan, although a bit below the grade of former elevens, needs only to be as capable as Western critics have always contended, to hold the Quakers safely.

Does Not Tempt Fate.

Yost did not dare take any chances of a scrimmage yesterday and he will not today. Michigan is bunged up enough as it is.

"We're lucky to be alive," said the coach, "after all the hard luck that has pursued us."

Neil Snow, Michigan's most famous old end and an up-to-date official, came Tuesday to put the finishing touches on Loell and Newton. "Indian" Schulte, the all-Western guard of the last year, deserted Ypsilanti Normals, whom he is coaching, and devoted himself to Davidson and Graham. Rheinschild, last year's tackle, took Rike and Hammond in charge, and "Germany" Schultz gave Clement all the pointers he could. This left Yost to the back field, and for three hours the four men worked the Michigan eleven until their tongues were hanging out.

Last night a great mass meeting was held in University Hall as a send off for the team, which leaves tonight. Capt. Curtis sent word as follows: "I'm in the hospital, but one man can't make or break a team. I'm going to wait until Saturday, when I know that the eleven men who represent Michigan will win, and then I am going to jump out of bed and crack my heels together." The slogan is "For Michigan, the West and Joe Curtis."

CRIMSON LOSES MILLER, ONE OF HER STAR ENDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 14.—Harvard has lost the services of one of her best end rushes, as Miller, who up to the West Point game, was leading man for left and dislocated his shoulder so badly Tuesday afternoon that he will be unable to use it for more than two weeks. Miller injured his shoulder in the cadet game and returned to his position only Tuesday afternoon. Capt. Foster's injured ankle which kept him out of the past two games, is healing rapidly, but he may not play against Dartmouth.

Smith Academy would hate to have to lower its colors to the Manual T. S. eleven, but such a thing is likely to happen. Both Smith and Manual have been working out on their adjoining grounds and all season the wearers of the crimson and white have looked upon Manual as an inferior bunch. That may have been true early in the season, but the Manual eleven has enough fight now to suit any coach.

Husbands Scarce at Dinner; Ladies' Night at the M. A. C.

Married men who belong to the Missouri Athletic Club will not, as a general rule, go home to dinner tonight. It is snowing, the beautiful will impede street car traffic. It is Ladies' Night at the Missouri Athletic Club, the one night in the month that sacred sod by French high heels may e'er be trod. The rhyme is that of John Bruner. If Mr. Benedict goes home Mrs. Benedict may not let him out again. So he will stay downtown and play it safe. Ladies' Night is the red letter night at the M. A. C. Then every man, married or single, dresses up and throws out his chest. They all become athletes.

Fellows who do not know a boxing glove from a patchouli puff brace their muscles, look real bad and brave and talk of knockouts, upper cuts, solar plexi and other blows. Gentlemen who do not know a handball from a football, who never get past the dining room and cafe, become expert in their athletic talk to the dear girls. The man who never saw Tommy Sullivan, the read-headed Irishman, who is the boxing instructor, will tell all about knocking him out in desperate private bouts. Oh, Ladies' Night is a grand and glorious institution at the M. A. C.

But of all the glad guys of a Ladies' Night the swimming squad bad boys are gladdest. It is not easy to see why they should be gladder than the boxing boys or the basket-ball players or the handball tossers unless it is, of all, they wear the "latest" clothes. Men who wear least clothes are always happy, it seems. Adam was very happy until he got dressed up. No man has been quite happy ever since. Anyhow the swimming gentlemen, whose silk suits are kept in cigarette cases, are the happiest of all the happy boys at the M. A. C. on Ladies' Night.

Instructor Meffert complains that when he has a real water polo game on, when he wants to play against men, and not for the prize of beauty's eyes, he cannot get a Corporal's guard into the swimming pool. Likewise, when he wants the boys to practice he misses them.

But let him call for ladies' night volunteers. He has to whistle for the police to quell the riot of applicants.

They are funny things, these ladies' nights. The real athletes, those who are just out of school or college and who do the "athleteing" for the club, are always around on the old pose. These never bring ladies with them. They rely upon their front—back and side views—to win them from some less fortunate fellow whose hospitality makes him good for a minute.

The real athlete never takes a lady or himself to dinner. No, he eats across the street at the Beanery and then slides over to cop your well-fed girl strictly on his front. Oh, that front is an awful thing, literally and figuratively.

The fellows who belong to the eating and drinking end of the club—they are 99 for one of the athletic kind—are there with their pockets cut open. But they get the girls around, buy them dinner, show them the place, look wise and when no rough man is listening whisper into their shell-like ears what wonderful devils they are with the gloves, the oar, the handball and the spiked shoe and the 16-pound hammer.

But who does it hurt? The fellows are all good fellows, spend their money, show the girls a good time, and if they "blow" a bit, why, they pay for the privilege.

And as long as they are well treated, entertained and pleased, what do the girls care? They can swallow the fables with a dinner.

Under Rugby Rules

Question: How deep will the snow have to be Wednesday afternoon to stop the football elevens from practice?

More hard luck for Smith Academy. Lazar, Manual's crack halfback, who has been out of the game with a sprained ankle and who did not play against McKinley last Saturday, will line up with his team against Smith Academy.

Duncan, Central High's crack right end, watched the Central-Yeatman game last Saturday from the side lines. Duncan has been out of the game for some time suffering from an injured knee, but he expects to play at least a part of the time against McKinley Saturday.

Charley Castlen, whose nose was knocked out of joint last week, declares that he will play against Missouri Saturday. He plans to use a heavy noseguard. The sensation should be delightful ff one of the Tigers rip off the guard and give Charley the stiff arm on the sore beak.

Bige French, St. Louis' 205-pound linesman, looks like he had been through a thrashing machine. From ankle to knee his shins are a mass of big ugly looking bruises. Frankie Howe declares that some of the Kansas City Medics must have been experimenting on Bige to see how hard it is possible to kick a man's shins without breaking the bone. It's a good thing for Bige that he isn't a negro, or some shining light of Kansas City football fields would have been suddenly extinguished.

MEMSIC WHIPS NEARY IN HURRY

Ripping Right to the Jaw Swamps the Milwaukeean in Second Round.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 14.—George Memsic knocked out Charley Neary last night after one minute of fighting in the second round of their scheduled 20-round fight. Memsic put Neary to the floor with a terrific right cross and the Milwaukee boy took the count of seven. Immediately after he arose Memsic began to put his right over and Neary sprawled over on his back for the count. As Referee Eddie Robinson finished the count and declared Burns the winner Neary staggered to his feet to continue the fight, protesting that he was not out. That he was counted out fairly is not questioned even by Eddie Toy, his trainer and manager.
